Germans Slain at Wall Are Honored

West Berlin Mayor Places Wreaths on Memorials

BY GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BERLIN (AP) — West Germans paid homage today to the memory of 53 persons who died trying to flee across the Communist wall that has divided East Berlin from West Berlin for the past three years.

Mayor Willy Brandt laid wreaths on memorials along a part of the 26-mile-long Communist wall on its third anniversary. He also honored 52 other persons who paid with their lives attempting to cross the iron curtain border between East and West Germany.

Red Guards Fire Flares
East German border guards, showing signs of nervousness, fired 160 flares during the night. The flares are used to illuminate the wall. Police said the guards appeared to be in a state of alert.

West German police were ready for a possible riot similar to one that broke out at last year's anniversary. Brandt placed the wreaths on simple wooden crosses bound with barbed wire in tribute to four of the victims who attempted to breach the wall three years ago.

20,000 Escapees
Nearly 20,000 persons have broken through the barriers to freedom since the wall was begun on Aug. 13, 1961. There were no reports of escapes today.

Another part of the observance was to be an hour of silence tonight. All public transportation will halt.

Erected by the Communist regime to stem the mounting flow of refugees to the West, the wall has become a bitter symbol of a city, and a nation, divided by concrete and barbed wire.

"The wall is against the stream of history, against the precepts of humaneness, against the right to self-determination written in the United Nations Charter," Brandt said. "The wall is a symbol of the failure of the West to stand up to the East."

The mayor declared: "We want to unite in thought — we want to unite in action — we want to unite in the struggle for peace." Brandt said the wall divides us but nevertheless has not torn us apart.

Brandt said the hour of silence "will be a sign to the whole world that we will not compromise with the wall but that we will overcome the senseless separation to serve a reasonable peace."

The Communist press, which calls the wall a justified defense against a fascist invasion, has charged that Brandt's appeal could result in a setback to thus far unsuccessful negotiations to permit West Germans to pass through the wall and visit their relatives in East Berlin. The Reds say observance of the wall's third anniversary is a sign to foment cold war hatreds.

Tension Marks Cyprus Peace

Officials Fear New Incident May Bring Renewal of Strife

BY GEORGE McARTHUR

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Chances for peace on Cyprus were so precariously balanced today that U.N. officials feared an insult shouted across no-man's land could shatter the truce.

And in Nicosia, emboldened Turkish Cypriots have been screaming insults across the sandbagged "green line" that divides them from the Greek Cypriot sector.

The Turkish Cypriot minority appears convinced the threat of renewed Turkish air strikes restrains Greek Cypriots from any ground attack.

Before anyone could help, Rita had been swept down a storm drain into a sewer. The onrushing rain waters carried her 75 feet underground and into the Willimantic River.

Three men saw the girl and two jumped in while the third held out a stick from the bank. Together they managed to get the child to land. "God was good to us," said Rita's father Wednesday night after she was back safe and sound at their home in Springfield, Mass.

Vietnamese Find Deserted Camps Of Red Guerrillas

Encounter Little Resistance In Advance Through Jungle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A thousand Vietnamese troops, ferried into the jungle in a giant helicopter operation, had hoped to launch today a battle against a concentration of Communist Viet Cong. They found two deserted enemy camps.

Some 100 helicopters blasted Communist positions Wednesday and airlifted the troops 30 miles northwest of Saigon in the war's biggest airborne operation. Government forces anticipated a drive against the Communists expected to last several days.

Fail to Trap Reds
However, they met almost no resistance in moving through the dense jungle area. The enemy camps were evacuated and burned. Four guerrilla bodies and several rifles were found. The troops had hoped to trap a mass of 2,000 to 3,000 Viet Cong.

The airlift, which involved every helicopter in the southern half of the country, resulted in the death of a U.S. helicopter pilot shot by a Communist. Two other Americans and a Vietnamese were wounded, the government said today.

Viet Cong authorities said in leaflets distributed the past week that they would no longer fight government troops but would attack only those units with U.S. advisers.

Continue to Assault U. S.
The government also said today that Communist guerrillas had overrun a fortified hamlet near Phan Thiet, a coastal town about 100 miles east of Saigon.

Ten defenders were injured and nine others were missing, the government said.

Communist North Viet Nam kept up its propaganda attack against the United States. Radio Hanoi, in a broadcast monitored today in Tokyo, charged the United States with continued violation of its airspace and territorial waters in the wake of last week's retaliation.

Congress Approves Boost in Own Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress passed Wednesday and sent to President Johnson an appropriation of $210.3 million to pay congressional salaries and expenses.

Some congressmen said the language of the bill is aimed at greater public surveillance of congressional expenses.

Accidents Kill Appleton Man And Iola Youth

Raymond Peotter, 76; Soren Knudson Car Mishap Victims

A 76-year-old man, Raymond Peotter, 414 N. Appleton St., died about 7 p.m. Wednesday of crushing chest injuries he received when a car backed over him as he crossed a closed-to-traffic section of S. Badger Avenue.

Another accident victim was Soren D. Knudson, son of Lau Knudson, Iola, who died early today after an automobile crash Wednesday near Fredonia, N. Y.

Appleton police and Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said a car driven by Mrs. Joseph Suess, 1628 W. Packard St., backed into Peotter, then drove forward over the man's body. The accident occurred about 5:50 p.m. in the 100 block of N. Badger Avenue.

On Shopping Trip
Mrs. Suess, on her way to a shopping trip with her two children, drove past a barricade onto Badger Avenue near its intersection with W. Washington Street. She said she then noticed that she would not be able to proceed on Badger due to other barricades.

Mrs. Suess then backed up when she hit something which

4 Indiana Convicts Fail to Tunnel Their Way Out of Prison

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Four convicts nursed caloused hands and shattered dreams of freedom today in the Indiana State Prison.

They sat in solitary confinement while guards sealed a tunnel the inmates had worked more than a half-year to build.

Warden Ward Lane said the four apparently worked quietly on weekends, trying to chisel a tunnel through an eight-foot section of the outside wall with tools stolen from the prison machine shop.

He said he heard of a planned escape several weeks ago, but had hoped to catch the four at work. When guards found the tunnel's exact location, Lane decided to act.

"It would have taken them years to escape at the rate they were going," he said. Officials estimated the four began digging the tunnel six to eight months ago.

Ward identified the four as Thomas McMeans, 27, and Frank Black, 32, both of Richmond, Ind.; George Clark, 34, of Muncie, Ind.; and James Scott, 32, of Glasford, Ill.

Many Rioters Held in 2 Cities In New Jersey

Police Restore Calm After Violence in Paterson, Elizabeth

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Youths armed with gasoline bombs, bottles, rocks and bricks rioted in a multiracial neighborhood of Elizabeth and smashed car and store windows in a Negro district of Paterson Wednesday night and early today.

Helmeted policemen with nightsticks restored order in both cities early today. It was the second night in a row in which violence broke out in the two northern New Jersey cities about 20 miles apart.

Attacks on Police
Elizabeth police tore into a crowd of young Negroes shortly before 2 a.m., subduing some of the youths with sticks, firing into the air, and making arrests. The brief battle followed a bombing of at least three police cars with bottles, near misses on several motorcycle police, a flaring gas bomb that lit up an intersection and the explosion of firecrackers.

Elizabeth hospitals reported treating eight persons for minor injuries. About a half-dozen Negroes and whites were injured

Freedom Fixers Blamed

British Underground Group May Have Helped Train Robber Escape

BY JOHN GALE

LONDON (AP) — An underworld syndicate known as the Freedom Fixers was credited today with helping Charles Frederick Wilson escape from prison and adding another footnote to the great train robbery.

Wilson, 32, ex-bookmaker, married and the father of three daughters, was the most wanted man in Britain, sought across the nation and in many parts of the world through the Interpol police network.

Police clamped a close watch on British ports and air terminals, visited scores of addresses and combed through the known haunts of the man who may have the secret of $6 million in his possession.

Wilson was sentenced to 30 years in jail last April when he stood trial with 11 other men for staging the biggest cash grab in history — the raid on the Glasgow-London mail train one year and five days ago. The robbers got away with $7,280,000. Only $840,000 has been recovered.

At Winslow Green Prison in Birmingham where Wilson had served less than four months of his term, an inquiry was launched into the escape. The probe was ordered by Home Secretary Henry Brooke.

London newspapers said Wilson had been spirited to freedom by the "Freedom Fixers," a group of jail-breaking artists, put up with.

Part of the mail train booty was said to have been used to buy their special talents at a price estimated to be between $140,000 and $200,000.

Wilson's getaway was organized with the same military precision as the raid on the train.

It is thought to have taken no more than 10 minutes.

The gang moved in at 3 a.m. Wednesday, scaling the prison wall with a ladder. They moved through the jail grounds to cell block B and, using duplicate keys, went almost unchallenged to Wilson's cell. A prison officer, Bill Nicholls, 50, who supervised them, was knocked out.

Some legislators have been angered by the ease with which the gang pulled off the escape. The gang pulled off the escape. The gang pulled off the escape.

Home Secretary Brooke flew back to London from a vacation in the Channel Islands Wednesday night to take charge of inquiries.

Wilson's blonde wife and children left home six weeks ago. Their whereabouts are unknown to authorities.

When an Englishman made the first Gin & Tonic, did he use Gordon's?

Undoubtedly. A retired Army Colonel, vividly recalling the heat of India, created the first Gin & Tonic nearly 75 years ago. Gordon's had already been firmly established as a favoured English gin for more than a century, so it is fair to assume the Colonel used Gordon's. Since then, gin-drinkers have found Gordon's the indispensable ingredient in a host of summer drinks, from Tom Collinses to Orange Blossoms. Not to mention the cocktail-for-all-seasons, the glorious Gordon's martini. Hot enough for you? Tell the man "Gordon's," the biggest-selling gin in England, America, the world.

Many Eager Freshmen Will Fail To Overcome Pitfalls of Campus

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)

Eager freshmen will flock to the nation's college and university campuses again this fall. For too many, the experience will prove more of a shock than they expected.

Many will fail to survive the pitfalls awaiting them behind the ivied college walls, despite high school achievement and monthly checks from home.

Two Purdue University educators at the University's Barker Memorial Center set out eight years ago to learn why so many high school graduates falter in college. This inquiry into the nation's college dropout problem was begun by Prof. Robert F. Schwarz, 41, the center's director; and Prof. Howard D. J. Murdock, 49, who teaches chemistry.

2-Week Course
Schwarz and Murdock set up a two-week course for Michigan City area college-bound graduates in the summer of 1956, calling it, "How to study in college."

The new course was advertised through a direct mail campaign and attracted only mild newspaper publicity. They had hoped 35 students would sign up. When Schwarz got to class that summer evening, he was greeted by 75.

Schwarz and Murdock feel the quandary facing many students entering college is the abrupt adjustment they must make, both social and academic.

As Murdock put it: "The freshman must conform to the 'theys' instead of 'mom'. No y!

longer is Mom around to prod him to his books. His college instructors are not likely to remind him an assignment is due, or even urge him to do it. The job of acquiring a college education, he will find, is his."

In their course, Schwarz and Murdock employ a straightforward approach to the would-be college freshmen, often with the breezy language the youngsters understand and even gimmicks to make their points.

Schwarz likes to set an alarm clock on his lecture and set it to interrupt his lecture.

Straight Approach
It startles the class when it goes off. "There is no substitute," he will then tell them, "for daily preparation. You'll never hear an alarm clock again without remembering this."

Their "How to study in college" course teaches the psychology of learning and the skills of acquiring knowledge and keeping it.

"Most of us are ill-trained in the art of learning," Schwarz said. "In fact, the training in skills we use appears to be conversely related to their importance in everyday life."

A child may spend most of his formative years learning how to write and, in subsequent order, how to read and articulate ideas.

Much Listening
"We spend practically no time learning how to listen," Schwarz said, "while in the classroom, a student spends 45 per cent of its time listening, on-ly 30 per cent reading, 15 per cent writing and 10 per cent speaking.

"When you listen to a professor, don't try to form arguments to what he says or waste time trying to trap him — just listen for facts. If he is a poor lecturer, learn to ignore his faulty speech habits or his ramblings."

Schwarz and Murdock have devised a system which boils down to what psychologists call "programmed learning." The student must set up his own rewards. He must read for questions and the reward is in finding the answers.

Long Assignment
"Don't read a lengthy assignment," Schwarz advises, "and then sit back, sigh, and shut the book. Go back immediately and review the material, seeking the answers as you go."

Other study tips:
Planning — "Make out a weekly study schedule and stick to it. It is important that you allow one hour weekly just to plan studying the week's work."

Conditions — "Don't use your desk for anything but studying. No letter-writing, radio or picture of the girl back home."

Motivation — "If you're thinking about cutting a class, remember it will cost you, or Dad, $10 for every class period. If you cut, you have just set fire to a $10 bill."

Do the professors recommend "cramming" before exams?

"If you haven't done anything else, you'd better do it. But it is the least effective in the learning process."

Murdock contends the entering college freshman scared stiff inside, despite today's ultrasophisticated teen-agers.

"We have learned it is entirely possible to bring about a change in the attitude of these freshmen when we arm them with information they need and can use and when we help them recognize and identify the real problems of college adjustments. We try to help by giving them a few real tools to bolster their confidence, to live up to their potential," Murdock says.

The first real survey of the course's long-range results will be this fall in Indiana. One hundred Purdue students who took it will be questioned on how they feel it has helped them.

But the professors already have numerous testimonials.

Among their favorite is the student who wrote:

"I believe the course is of little value as I did not use any of it in college. I admit if I had, I would have better grades."

And another student who may not have heeded their help, was to write them later: "I found the course (sic) very helpful."

New London Man, 24, Admits Lewd Conduct Charge in Waupaca

WAUPACA — A 24-year-old New London man was placed on probation for two years Wednesday when he admitted in Waupaca County Court a charge of lewd and lascivious conduct.

Charles Gyrion was arrested by New London police when it was learned he had been living with a 19-year-old woman while his wife was in a mental institution. Gyrion denied the charge when he appeared in New London Municipal Justice Court.

A second charge of adultery was dismissed on the recommendation of the district attorney.

Why more dentists now recommend Crest Toothpaste than ever before

New test results further confirm Crest's effectiveness against cavities.

Within the last month, results of the first test of Crest in Canada were announced. The results after two school years: a 40% reduction in cavities among first- and second-grade children vs. a similar group using Crest but without Fluoristan; a 39% reduction among seventh graders.

This study brings the number of Crest clinical tests to fifteen. The Crest Clinical Research Program, which began in 1962, has included thousands of children, teen-agers, and young adults. The Program has also included variations in brushing frequency and duration of tests.

This is why more dentists now recommend Crest than ever before.

Ask your dentist about

Crest. Ask him how it can benefit your family's dental health. He may recommend Crest. If he does, it is because he knows you will use Crest as part of a good dental health program. One that includes regular checkups, watching between-meal treats, and brushing often.

"Crest has been chosen to be an effective dental preventive dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a consistently applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care."

Renk Predicts Agricultural Prosperity

GOP Candidate For Senate Speaks At NFO Meeting

GREEN BAY—Wilbur Renk, Republican senatorial candidate, predicted Wednesday night that "by 1967 or 1968, we are going to have a prosperous agriculture."

Renk delivered his forecast to a meeting of the Brown County National Farmers Organization (NFO) in the Hobart Town Hall.

Renk said he viewed the American agriculture economy as not at its low point and that an upswing was coming for three reasons. These were:

Farm Product Use

Increased use for farm products coming through agriculture research; more exporting of American farm products as standards of living increase in new African and Asian nations; and better prices as marginal land is taken out production and farmers from this land get jobs in small town industry.

Renk, whose family operates feed corn and beef farms at Sun Prairie, received attentive treatment from NFO members.

Sturgeon Bay Mayor Frank Tachovsky, a candidate for the Eighth District Democratic congressional nomination, won applause for an observation that he agreed with a Renk questioner that "all our troubles started with the Republicans" during the Eisenhower administration.

"I don't think the government will ever get out of agriculture because we the people are the government," said Tachovsky.

Gives No Opinion

During a question period Renk avoided being drawn into an opinion on the NFO and its announced strategy of controlling farm prices by holding products from the market. Renk said his family corporation was a Farm Bureau member.

"As a candidate for office, I am not backing any farm organization. But I defend the right of you people to organize. The fact you are bringing the problems of agriculture to the people, the fact you want higher farm prices, and to get the government out of agriculture is good," Renk said.

Zoning Change Bids Pending Before Board

Appleton Unit Wants More Authority to Act on Requests

Five applications from business firms seeking permission to establish parking lots on property zoned residential are pending before the Appleton Board of Appeals.

The board has indicated it will not take action until its authority with regard to parking lots is expanded.

Recently, the city council adopted legislation which would give the board authority to okay parking lots in areas zoned for residential purposes.

Before, it was necessary to have parking lot sites rezoned. The new policy is to prevent lot owners from constructing commercial or industrial type buildings.

Members of the board have said they are in no position to give blanket approval to parking lot requests. Some aldermen agree with them.

There is feeling the board should be able to designate the type of vehicles that can be parked on the lots, time in which parking is to be permitted, entrances and exits and the type of lighting.

This week, at the urging of the Ald. Derald Ahrens (2nd), the council's welfare-ordinance committee referred the matter to the city planner for recommendations.

Ahrens contends that unless more authority is given the board of appeals, a situation could be created whereby large semi-trucks would be parked in residential areas on an around-the-clock basis.

In the past, requests for parking lots went to the city plan commission because rezoning was involved.

Two Policemen Get Promotions

Robert Lathrop Chosen to Fill Lieutenant Post

Two Appleton policemen have received new assignments and one was promoted to lieutenant in the department's identification bureau to fill a vacancy.

Police Chief E. O. Wolff announced today that Sgt. Robert Lathrop, a 10-year employee in the identification bureau will be promoted to lieutenant Sept. 1 to fill a vacancy created by the retirement of Lt. Joseph Brouillard.

Lathrop joined the Appleton Police Department June 2, 1947 and became identification clerk in 1954. He was promoted to sergeant in 1957. Lathrop is a World War II Marine Corps veteran and a past commander of American Legion Post 38 in Appleton.

Patrolman Roland Recker, 30, has been transferred to the identification bureau. A former squad car driver, Recker joined the police department Jan. 1, 1956.

William H. Wolff, 26, was transferred to the traffic department as a motorcycle driver. He joined the force April 1, 1960 and formerly worked as a beat walker and squad car driver.

Fire Department Union Election Set for Thursday

A union representation election for members of the Appleton Fire Department has been rescheduled for next Thursday after being postponed this week.

Morris Slaveny, Madison, chairman of the Wisconsin Employment Relation Board, were notified by city officials today.

Firemen will decide whether they want Local 257 of the International Association of Firefighters to be their exclusive bargaining representative in dealings with the city.

Ballots will be cast at the No. 1 station from 6:30 to 9 a.m. Thursday.

Square-Rigger Visits in Milwaukee

Post-Crescent Woman's Editor

MILWAUKEE — The excitement and adventure of another era cast a long shadow on the realities of the jet and nuclear age Wednesday as the Norwegian square-rigger Christian Radich came to Wisconsin.

It's crew of 16 and 88 teenage cadets bowed to a strong west wind and used an auxiliary engine to bring their 627-ton white and yellow ship here from Chicago. When they docked at 11:20 a.m., the flag of the U. S. flew from the foremast and the Norwegian flag from the ship's stern.

In dress blues, the cadets of the Norwegian Merchant Marine stood at ease on the deck.

Flying 13,000 square feet of sail in "full dress," the Christian Radich, one of 23 square-rigged ships in "operation sail" which cruise from Lisbon to Bermuda and then New York, made the Lisbon - Bermuda trip in 21 days.

Trip to Home

Capt. Kjell Backen, of the Royal Norwegian Navy, expects the trip home in late September or early October to take only 10 or 11 days because of prevailing winds.

The Radich is the first big sailing ship to come to Wisconsin since 1929. Thousands of persons lined up during the afternoon to walk her decks and put an adventurous foot to the one of the ropes that rises to mainmast 128 feet above the deck.

Lake Michigan continued to boast six-foot swells and many a momentary sailor discovered he had no sealegs at all.

Eight Wisconsin women editors visited with the captain in his stateroom, which are handsome quarters with crimson curtains hung at the portholes and walls lined with pictures of famous sailing vessels of other times.

Flowers were everywhere, evidence of Milwaukee's welcome to the ship and its youthful crew.

Soft-Spoken Man

The captain, with the Radich for six and a half years, is a handsome, soft-spoken man who handles English as well as he does his ship. He said his 88 young sailors are not part of the Navy, nor is his crew.

The ship is privately owned and is one of three used to train future officers of Norway's merchant marine. During the summer, boys may sign up for training every eight weeks. A normal training period is six weeks at sea and three on shore.

"The present journey of six months is most unusual," he said, smiling.

The captain's wife met the ship in New York and smilingly joined her husband's assertion that, while welcomes had been wonderful everywhere, Milwaukee and Wisconsin have been most warm.

The couple's twin sons, 17, were part of the crew when the cruise began. One has now gone back to school, but the other will remain with the ship through its journey home.

Typical Teens

Mrs. Backen said that although the cadets learn English in school, "They are shy and afraid to use it." They are typical teens aboard ship, the couple agreed.

Feeding 88 young men at sea is no problem, the captain asserts. The ship has only one cook, but as with the rest of the crew, he does as little actual work as possible. The purpose is training, and the crew serves only to direct the cadets.

"In heavy weather, appetites may fail completely," the captain said, "but they are fast regained in a calm, and the 88 eat 77 loaves of bread in a single meal."

At a recent barbecue, each boy downed one and a half chickens. The ship can store food for three months, the captain said.

While the people of Wisconsin took a look at the Radich, the boys of the Radich were looking at Wisconsin. The cadets were given an afternoon tour of the new Milwaukee zoo by Director George Spiedel. In the evening, they were party guests.

The ship will sail from here Friday morning, and 88 homesick cadets will begin their journey through the St. Lawrence Seaway to their home.

Insurance Firm Plans Office in Grand Chute

Sentry Company to Lease $75,000 Structure on W. College Avenue Site

A new $75,000 office building is being constructed for Sentry Insurance Co. on W. College Avenue in the Town of Grand Chute.

Sentry, formerly known as Hardware Mutuals, presently has a branch office at Valley Fair Shopping Center. The home office is at Stevens Point.

Details of the project were announced today by C. P. Ackerman, manager of the branch office here which services 14 counties in northeastern Wisconsin and four in the Upper Michigan region.

One-Story Building

The one-story, 52 by 142-foot building, is being constructed by Theodore Ulschig & Son, Appleton, and will be leased by Sentry. When completed, it will have 7,400 square feet of floor space.

Ackerman said adequate parking facilities also would be provided at the site. The building will have contemporary lines, including glass paneling and brick column front.

Sentry's new branch office, expected to be finished and occupied by Jan. 31, will be west of the viaduct on the south side of College Avenue across from a tire firm.

Ackerman said Sentry Insurance will have 50 employees assigned to the branch office, including 15 salesmen and adjusters and 30 office personnel.

Excavation work for the new building started earlier in the week.

St. John's School To Open Sept. 3 For 800 Students

MENASHA—St. John Catholic Grade School, preparing for opening day Sept. 3, and the anticipated enrollment is about 800 boys and girls. This is 26 less than last year's registration figure.

Sister Mary Imelda, SSJ, will become the new superior of the Sisters of St. Joseph Convent, 628 Fifth St., Menasha, and will be principal of the school. She was formerly the superior and principal at St. Florian, Halley, Wis.

Sister Mary Rosemonde, SSJ, superior and principal for the past two years, will be a teaching principal at St. Ignace, Milwaukee.

New teaching sisters are Sister Mary Paschal, SSJ, who comes to Menasha from St. Mary's, and Sister Mary St. Ignace, who comes from St. Mary's, St. Ignace, Minn.

Transferred from the St. John faculty were Sister Mary Stanislaus, Sister Mary Valentine, and Sister Mary Evangelist.

Nurse Resigns At Calumet

Mrs. Louis Wilcox To Leave Position to Get Masters Degree

CHILTON—The Calumet County Board Tuesday unanimously voted to accept the resignation of County Nurse Mrs. Lois Wilcox.

Mrs. Wilcox resigned to return to school for her master's degree. She will study hospital administration at the University of Toronto.

The resignation, effective Sept. 1, was accepted at the recommendation of the health committee.

Mrs. Wilcox, a New Holstein native, received her nurses training at St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, and was on the staff of St. Nicholas Hospital, Sheboygan, before taking over the county post Jan. 1, 1959.

County's obligation No provisions have been made for a replacement and Clarence Pagel, Brillion, health committee chairman, asked the board for time to study the situation before reaching a decision.

Pagel said the committee wants to determine the county's obligation in the field of public health services. Since many of the schools are taking over public health programs among students, he felt that the county post could possibly be filled by part time help.

Pagel was informed, however, that any saving on a plan of this type, would be offset partially by the loss of state aids which amount to $1,000 annually.

Milwaukee Man Fined $100 for Reckless Drivng

KAUKAUNA — Adolph J. Hottenstine, 40, 1444 N. 40th St., Milwaukee, was fined $100 after pleading guilty to reckless driving when arraigned before Oscar T. Jahns, municipal justice, Wednesday.

Hottenstine was arrested about 2:55 a.m. Wednesday when the car he was driving failed to negotiate a corner at Lawe and Taylor Streets and struck a telephone pole and highway marker sign. Hottenstine was not hurt, but extensive damage was reported to the car.

YMCA to Sponsor Bridge League Game

Appleton YMCA will sponsor a "Y" duplicate bridge game starting 7:30 p.m. Friday in the cafeteria.

The group is affiliated with the American Contract Bridge League and the session will be a master point game. All area residents are invited.

Five Injured in Highway Crash

Muskego Woman, 4 Children Taken to New London Hospital

NEW LONDON — Five persons were injured when the car in which they were riding collided with a semi-trailer truck about two miles south of here on U.S. 45 at 12:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Betty Ignasiak, Muskego, and four of her six children were injured.

Mrs. Ignasiak received a cut forehead and bruises. Linda, 15, had an injured ankle; Gail, 11, a hip injury; Duane, 10, chest injuries, and Debra, 8, head injury. Jean, 5, and Steve, 3, did not complain of any injuries. The injured were taken to New London Community Hospital.

Rufus Webb, 320 N. Main St., Marion, told police the air brakes on his truck locked and pulled the truck across the highway into the oncoming traffic. Mrs. Ignasiak tried to stop but hit the truck cab in the side.

The truck was headed south and the car was traveling north on U.S. 45. Damage to the car was estimated at $1,200 and $50 to the gas tank of the truck.

$57 Million Worth

Students Paying for University Buildings

Students attending the nine Wisconsin state universities are buying $57 million worth of buildings for the state.

Eugene R. McPhee, Madison, director of state universities, said the buildings purchased by students for the state will increase as more residence halls, food service buildings and student center additions are constructed on the nine campuses to meet rising enrollment needs. Construction loans for the buildings are guaranteed by a federal government agency, which encourages sale of the bonds to private investors. McPhee said. The bonds are retired over a 40-year period from dormitory fees and meal charges paid by students. Title to the buildings then will go to the Board of Regents of State Colleges, a state agency.

Life of the buildings is estimated at 100 years, or 60 years after they are deemed to the state by the Wisconsin State Colleges Building Corp.

12,000 in Dorms

When nearly 29,000 students start classes at the nine universities next month, some 12,000 will be living in 54 residence halls and nearly all will eat in campus student centers and dining halls. They also will see construction starting on 11 new residence halls and three food service buildings, to be ready for use in September, 1965. Residence hall capacity then will be more than 15,000, or nearly half of the anticipated 34,000 students.

This fall the students staying in WSU residence halls will pay about $30 a month each to share double rooms and about $40 a month for meals. They will pay more than $3 million in room fees during the school year. Two million will be used for payments on the buildings, the other million for operating costs.

Meanwhile, payments on some 34 million dollars worth of academic buildings on the nine campuses will be made from state tax funds.

The value of buildings completed and under construction on the various campuses follows, with the first figure for buildings being financed by students and the second figure for academic buildings being financed with state tax funds:

Eau Claire, $4,430,552 and $3,358,251; La Crosse, $4,030,307 and $4,232,879; Oshkosh, $7,561,153 and $4,693,604; Platteville, $5,283,680 and $2,342,056; River Falls, $4,325,255 and $3,132,092; Stevens Point, $5,859,086 and $4,232,635; Stout, $4,052,042 and $3,688,698; Superior, $2,230,592 and $1,841,518; and Whitewater, $7,118,707 and $6,343,435.

For 'My Fair Lady'

Mrs. Wimer Designs Production Costumes

BY KENNETH ANDERSON, Director, AND FERN SMITH, Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — A patron of the theater enters the biggest door to illusion through the costumes in a period play — and a magnificent entrance it will be in "My Fair Lady" thanks to the ingenuity of the costume crew and its driving force—Mrs. Miguel Wimer.

"Riverside Players struck gold this summer in the person of Mrs. Wimer, who has ingenuity to spare and the added talent of inspiring her crew and friends to root out needed items from basements, attics and closets of the community," says Ken Anderson, Riverside Players producer and director.

With endless energy and singular vision, costume designer with being the mother of seven children (the oldest in her 20's, the youngest, curly-haired Roberto, a restless two) and husband — Pickering. Higgins, Eliza band Miguel who is export traffic manager for the International Division of Kimberly - Clark and also a consul of Mexico here in Wisconsin on behalf of migrant workers.

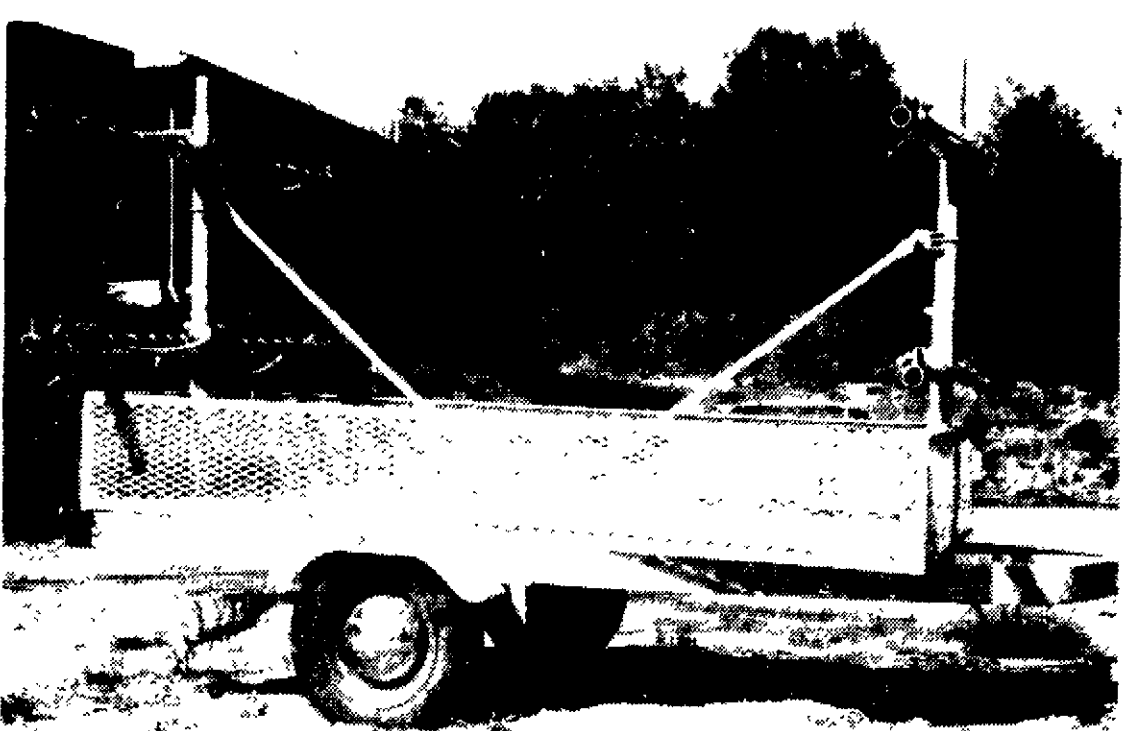

Her father-in-law, Miguel Wimer Sr., helped to form the cast which have no less than strong interest that Mrs. Wimer five costumes each — costumes has in the performing arts. He which vary in their demand was director of the Palace of Fine Arts, Mexico City, the moon clothes, to evening clothes, structural oddity which theatergoers once walked up steps to enter and which is now entered by walking down steps—having settled 15 to 20 feet into the swimmers for the season's costumes, specifically, and the old lake bed on which Mexico theater in general, shares time City is built. The call curtain in place Tuesday.

this theater has one million crystals attached to it, made over 50 years ago by Tiffany's, New York City.

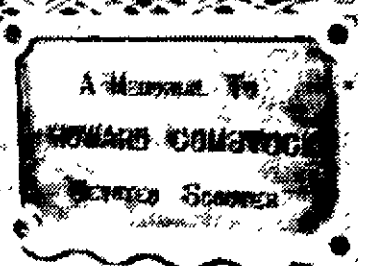

Mrs. Wimer's executive persuasiveness has been compounded with the energy of Mrs. H. R. Moore—who has joined forces to borrow, beg and, it is claimed, "steal" costume items for "My Fair Lady" which opens for its first weekend run, Aug. 20.

NEENAH — The Neenah-Menasha swim meet, scheduled for tonight at the Neenah pool, has been postponed to 6 p.m. next Tuesday. Awards to Neenah achievements will also take place Tuesday.

Laird Charges 'New' Aircraft Not Really New

Congressman Says LBJ Announcement 'Attempt to Mislead'

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's recent announcement that a "new" aircraft called the SR-71 which was started in February, 1963, and would be flown early in 1965 was "clearly an attempt to mislead the congress and the American people as to our defense effort," Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., charged today.

In a speech before the House today, the Wisconsin congressman, a member of the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee took the chief executive's announcement apart and claimed it contained several major errors.

First, according to Laird, the SR-71 was not a "new" aircraft at all. It was, he said, "really a modified A-11," the concept and development of which started in 1959 under the Eisenhower administration.

Second, he contended if it had been a "new" aircraft, as the president claimed, it could not have been started in February, 1963, and become operational only about two years later.

Need Five Years "Anyone who knows the least bit about modern weapons development cycles knows that such an advanced aircraft would take approximately five years to develop," Laird said.

Third, the craft "was and is still a reconnaissance aircraft," the congressman said, even though "it was hailed by the president as an interceptor in an apparent attempt to kill the discussions in Congress over the need of a new interceptor."

"It is amazing how many uses the president has claimed for the A-11," Laird continued. "Still another example is the use of this aircraft to pacify those who are pushing for a supersonic transport by implying the A-11 was a significant step in that direction."

"And now, in an obvious attempt to stifle criticism by myself and others both in and out of my party, this same aircraft has become a 'new strategic aircraft.'"

"Defense and national security is too serious to allow anyone, including the president, to engage in attempts to mislead the American people in an election year or any other year," Laird concluded. "The safety of this nation and its people are at stake and no individual or party is above public scrutiny and condemnation when it misleads the people about the national security program of our country."

the colorgraph, every letter and number is now analyzed for the teacher, making it easy to explain the step-by-step formation of the letters and numbers to pupils.

Parents Complain Some complaints from parents about handwriting of students prompted the elementary staff to consider a formal handwriting program that will be used in regular class periods. Teachers had been teaching handwriting before, but mostly in an incidental manner along with spelling. It is felt the incidental method was not accomplishing the goal of good, legible handwriting.

Curriculum changes in 1963 consisted of a complete series adoption in the social studies field along with a major adoption of social studies materials including maps and globes. In 1963, a complete modern math program for grades one - eight was adopted.

Consultants in all three new areas will talk to elementary teachers on the in-service days scheduled before school starts this fall. The consultants are experts in their fields and present their company's reasons for methods of presenting the particular subject.

Stamp Collector Tries Easy Way Out, Robs Appleton Business Firm

An over-zealous stamp collector who may have entered the Ace Tri-City Stamp Shop, 109 1/2 W. College Ave., twice in the past two days, is the object of a police search today.

Gordon Hawley, owner, reported his shop was entered sometime Monday or Tuesday and again sometime Wednesday.

Police said cabinets, display cases and desk drawers were opened in the earlier break-in and a safe was forced open.

Taken were several issues of stamps and a check book. The burglar came back later the following day and took more collector's stamps and albums which he apparently had overlooked.

Ask Franchise For TV Service

Philadelphia Firm Would Install Antenna at Oshkosh

OSHKOSH—A request for a municipal franchise for a community antenna television system was presented to the city council Wednesday night by Mid-Wisconsin Television Cable Inc., a subsidiary of Jerrold Electronics Inc., Philadelphia.

According to the proposal, a large antenna would be constructed with cable hookups to subscriber television sets. A hookup fee and a monthly rate would be charged, officials said. They proposed a maximum hookup cost of $50 and a maximum monthly rate of $5. The exact rates would not be determined until after engineering surveys were completed, they said.

An official of the firm said they would guarantee clear reception of from 8 to 12 channels with no duplication of programming presented by the Green Bay channels. Local closed circuit television also is contemplated, they said, plus making educational television available free to local schools.

Opposition was expressed by an official of WBAY-TV of Green Bay who said the community antenna system was "one step away from pay TV." A representative of Marcus Theaters, which operates two theaters in Oshkosh, also voiced opposition.

The TV firm is asking for an ordinance covering 25 years, renewable each year with an extension franchise for the first three years. They would pay the city 2 per cent of their gross as a fee. The council took the proposal under advisement.

Wolves Moose 'Live Together To Stay Alive

posed study of the wolf-moose association on this island. We have neither the time nor the equipment to supplement the long, admirable study of the same relationship by Purdue University.

Nevertheless, the relationship between the wolves and the moose which inhabit this island is a magnificent example of the delicate balance of nature. Here, briefly, is what takes place on this largest of Lake Superior Islands:

Sissies In 1936 when moose appeared on the island, the Michigan Conservation Department imported three wolves taken from zoos. Their purpose was to cull out the misfit moose, the ailing, the aged. But the zoo wolves turned out to be sissies. They remained around camp; they couldn't or wouldn't hunt moose; they couldn't support themselves. At last they were removed.

Nature stepped in, and suddenly in that same year there appeared a wolf pack on the island. They were tough wolves and eager and they hunted down the moose with skill and determination.

They took the moose they could kill — the weak and the old. And the wolves prospered and the moose herd grew to be strong.

For the past three years, the wolves have numbered approximately 25 in the pack. For the same period, the moose herd numbered 600.

This large number of moose on such a small island is one of the interesting aspects of this island national park. All of us have sighted moose. I saw five in one day — cows, bulls and calves. Long-legged woodsman, Winston Elting, who prowls the forest with rare skill, has sighted eight of the big animals which sometimes reach a height of ten feet at the withers.

Swimming, Sleeping We see them swimming the inland lakes, and we see them deep in the forest, sometimes routing them from their beds as we move along.

None of us has seen a wolf and we will not. They are too wily too alert. In fact, intense studies and many men in search of their dens has shown nothing. No one to date has found a wolf lair on this island.

Though the wolves hunt in packs as elsewhere, they post themselves at intervals. When they choose a moose to kill, they chase it in relays so that the pursuers get an occasional rest and there is always a fresh pair to take up the chase. The moose, run to exhaustion, must finally turn to fight and is the brought down.

One Every Three Days The pack kills about one moose every three days. In almost every kill, the moose has proven to be ill or old, although occasionally the timber wolves will manage to bring down a calf.

The delicate balance of nature is shown here. Each year, the wolves take down about 122 moose, all aged or diseased. In each year also, the moose herd reproduces almost exactly that number so its population is precisely — give or take a few — the same.

Since the island is rocky and since there is not really adequate food to support a growing wolf pack, the wolves produce almost precisely the same number of cubs each year. Some are killed and some starve to death and these are replaced by cubs. There are beavers on the island and these animals serve as part of the wolf diet, but — except for hares, mice and squirrels — there is almost nothing else to serve them as food. Apparently the wolves do not hunt the red fox which also inhabits the island.

Ill From Exposure On this island some of the moose are infected by a tick which gives them great trouble. Itching, they seek to scratch themselves against trees with the consequence that they rub off much of their fur. Lacking this protection against the extreme cold of this Lake Superior island, these moose begin to fail and grow ill from exposure. These are soon taken by the ravenous wolves.

Occasionally a hungry pack will attack a strong bull, but if the bull is capable of ferocious resistance the pack will decide to seek elsewhere for its quarry. Thus the herd stays strong, only the weak are culled.

If man interfered here — as he has elsewhere — the strange balance would be upset and one of the other of the animals would pass away. Today, as forever, the pack remains exactly in proper ratio to the amount of food available, and so does the herd.

He completed his doctoral dissertation at Harvard University after the war. He is the author of "The Restoration of Meaning to Contemporary Life."

Sparks Ignite Grass Fires at Wittenberg

WITTENBERG — The Wittenberg Volunteer Fire Department fought four of the 15 grass fires in the village and surrounding area from Friday afternoon until 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Local authorities said the fires were started by sparks from freight trains traveling through town.

Assisting in the control were the Homme Home fire fighters. They battled the fires outside the village area.

AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Bob Denver Finally Beats 'Maynard Rap'

Twelve-Month Sit-Down Strike at Home Wins New Television Series

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD — When a young actor creates a home screen image as indelible as Maynard G. Krebs, the headbeatnik, he discovers he can have a big problem.

Not financial, you understand, but in the question, "Where do I go now as an actor?"

After four years as Maynard on Dobie Gillis, Bob Denver shaved his beard, replaced that sweat shirt with cashmere and looked around for a place to go. Where he finally went may surprise you as much as it did his wife and three young children.

He went home for a year.

During the year he turned down five television show ideas and three movies because "they were too much like Maynard."

He arrived on his motorcycle for lunch with us to explain how he beat what he called "the Maynard rap." His 12-month sit-down strike at home had won him a new television series about which he was happily enthused.

"Came just in time, too," he grinned, "because I've done everything you can do at home."

Stand Ready, Folks

Now don't get shocked when Bob Denver, a law student from New Rochelle who was handier with funny lines in college plays than in serious appeals to student judges, tells you what he's playing.

Yes, another humorous character of "endearing ineptitude."

The role gives him co-stardom with Alan Hale, Jr. in Gilligan's Island coming to CBS on Saturday evenings next fall.

From Krebs to Kelp

The name is "Kelp," and Denver plays first mate to Hale on a fishing boat cast away with its seven occupants on a remote South Sea Island.

"Kelp" may be inept, Denver says, but he's not like Maynard at all. No beard, a hint of romance (with Dawn Wells, a former Miss Nevada), and no beatnik talk.

"Why," Bob said, "when I tried to talk with some real beatniks (during the run of Dobie Gillis), I couldn't understand them."

of a Western figure you seldom see—an old man. Repeat.

7-8 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons pokes fun at modern home decorating in "The People House." Steve (Fred MacMurray) is smitten with pretty Dianne Foster, the editor of a home magazine. So he submits his home, decorated mostly in early teen-ager, in a decorator's competition. Repeat.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 5) — Joan Blondell appears on Dr. Kildare as a very wealthy, rough-hewn, lonely widow who decides Raymond Massey will be a good husband. There is nothing new in the plot, but there are a few amusing scenes. Repeat.

8-9 (Channel 2) — Perry Mason's "Case of the Angry Astronaut" is concerned with a space shoot program which becomes the setting for the murder of an Air Force general (James Coburn). Robert Bray is the astronaut who is the prime suspect. Repeat.

8-9 (Channel 5) — This week's The New Christy Minstrels and their guest Louis Nye are in Disneyland, aboard the Mississippi riverboat, The Mark Color. Repeat.

8-10 (Channel 5) — "The Deep End," on Kraft Suspense Theater, is a fairly faithful adaptation of John D. MacDonald's novel "The Drowner." Clu Gulager is a detective investigating the death by drowning of Ellen McRae, at the request of her sister (also Ellen McRae). In-

8-10 (Channel 2) — The Nurses attempts a serious-minded study of the morality of voluntary sterilization, but it loses its balance and falls into a huge vat of soapuds. Geraldine Brooks comes to the hospital where she is a nurse when she isn't pregnant. She is about to have her sixth child in eight years of marriage to child-like Philip Bosco. And she announces to her doctor (Joe Campanella) that she wants to be sterilized. Miss Brooks, Bosco and Campanella are all very believable in their roles. That helps. Repeat.

A Cookout To Shout About

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

With no intention of being modest at all, I say this collection of recipes for an outdoor menu is worth shouting about and includes some of the finest ideas to come my way in many a day. In search of dishes for a truly creative outdoor party, home economists from the Processed Apple Institute and U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries came to my rescue. They really deserve the credit for supplying these excellent recipes.

What's nice about them is that the idea started with a beach party theme in mind . . . either a make-believe one in garden or backyard or the real thing on the lake shore . . . yet any one of the recipes is adaptable for many occasions. They're fine ideas for a buffet supper, using one or several of the dishes. They can be used for family meals or more modest cookouts, one dish at a time.

The perch fillets fried to a golden brown in an old-fashioned iron skillet and served sizzling promises a supreme taste treat. Savory Salmon steaks are basted with a zippy lemon butter sauce . . . scallops are marinated before being skewered with pineapple chunks, pepper squares, mushrooms and bacon for a kabob treat.

One of the best recipes is a Louisiana dish . . . shrimp boiled with a "bag full" of interesting seasonings, then served with a magnificent peppery sauce. Then there's a Chesapeake Bay clam bake with its clams, baked potatoes, crabs and roasting ears.

Add to these grilled lobster tails and oyster kabobs for a well rounded variety of seafoods for a cookout par excellence.

Applesauce Desserts

A trio of desserts, all using canned applesauce as a basic ingredient, makes a perfect ending to any outdoor party. These are wonderful picnic desserts, too, since they travel well in individual paper cups or containers with lids.

Easily made, each recipe takes two cups of applesauce. The ingredients are mixed together until blended properly and then are packed in the containers. Each recipe makes four servings. For the Tropical Dessert, combine the applesauce with a half cup of flaked coconut and a half cup of fresh or frozen raspberries.

Apple Sauce Mallow takes two cups applesauce, one cup diced marshmallows and one cup of fresh or frozen strawberries. Peppermint Crunch takes two cups applesauce, a quarter cup of crushed peppermint candy, and a half-cup diced lady fingers or stale cake.

OYSTER KABOBS

2 cans (12 ounces each) shucked oysters, fresh or frozen
1/4 cup French dressing
3 large, firm tomatoes
1 can (1 pound) whole potatoes, drained
10 slices bacon, cut in half
1/4 cup melted fat or oil
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Thaw frozen oysters. Drain oysters and place in a shallow baking dish. Pour dressing over oysters and let stand for 30 minutes. Wash tomatoes. Remove stem ends and cut tomatoes into sixths. Cut large potatoes in half. Remove oysters, reserving dressing for basting. Roll each piece of bacon around two or three oysters, depending on size of oysters. Place oysters on skewers alternately with tomatoes and potatoes. Place kabobs on a well-greased broiler pan. Combine fat, salt, pepper, and reserved dressing; mix thoroughly. Brush kabobs with seasoned fat. Broil about three inches from source of heat for four to five minutes. Turn kabobs carefully and brush with fat. Broil four to five minutes longer or until bacon is crisp. Recipe serves six.

FISH FRY

2 pounds yellow perch fillets or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1/4 cup evaporated milk
1/2 teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
1/2 cup flour
1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
1 teaspoon paprika
Melted fat or oil

Thaw frozen fillets. Combine milk, salt, and pepper. Combine flour, cornmeal, and paprika. Dip fish in milk mixture and roll in flour mixture. Place fat in a heavy frying pan. Place pan about four inches from hot coals and heat until fat is hot but not smoking. Add fish and fry for four minutes. Turn carefully and fry for three to four minutes longer or until fish is brown and flakes easily when tested with a fork. Drain on absorbent paper. Recipe serves six.

LEMON-BUTTER SALMON STEAKS

2 pounds salmon steaks
1/2 cup butter, melted
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon liquid smoke
2 teaspoons salt
Dash pepper

Thaw frozen steaks. Cut into serving-size portions. Combine remaining ingredients. Baste fish with sauce. Place fish in well-greased, hinged wire grills. Cook about four inches from moderately hot coals for eight minutes. Baste with sauce. Turn and cook for seven to 10 minutes longer or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Recipe makes six servings.

SCALLOP KABOBS

1 pound scallops, fresh or frozen
1 can (13 1/2 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms, drained
1 green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
12 slices bacon

Thaw frozen scallops. Rinse with cold water to remove any shell particles. Place pineapple, mushrooms, green pepper and scallops in a bowl. Combine oil, lemon juice, parsley, soy sauce, salt, and pepper. Pour sauce over scallop mixture and let stand for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Fry bacon until cooked but not crisp. Cut each slice in half. Use long skewers, alternate scallops, pineapple, mushrooms, green pepper, and bacon until skewers are filled. Cook about four inches

This Elegant Seafood buffet was designed for a beach and shore party. Starting front and center with the skillet full of crisp golden fish fillets, salmon steaks in lemon butter sauce are next, then scallop kabobs and Louisiana shrimp boil just behind the tray of kabobs. To the right is a bountiful Chesapeake Bay clam bake and lobster tails are cooking on the grill.

An Oyster Treat designed to please the cookout crowd are these Oyster Kabobs. Tender oysters are marinated in tangy French dressing before being teamed with tomatoes, potatoes and crisp bacon slices on skewers.

Three Picnic Desserts, all refreshingly moist and extra easy to make, are created from canned applesauce. Each dessert can be packed in the kitchen and the individual paper cups become serving dishes at meal time. Tropical Dessert is at the right, the two with striped candy on top are Peppermint Crunch and the other pair Apple Sauce Mallow.

Focus on Moon at Fair Flower Show

The annual Flower Show "Stables" class, similar to most staged during the State Fair at biles, but free standing, not Milwaukee from Friday through hanging Aug. 23 will have flower exhibits. There is really a double theme keyed to the future. Stanley Foll, this year, Foll said, as the pro-flower building superintendent, fessional show of 13 gardens said, "All eyes will be on the moon which will have as its theme "Elegance in Flowers," with a most based on the moon shot. Here designers have put all the forces of their imaginations to work, vary from 150 to 350 square feet in size.

Table classes will be keyed to the great decorating periods of Colonial, French Provincial, Early American and Mid-Victorian. "Glamour with Antiques" and "Design for Tomorrow, 2000 A.D." Dahlias will be exceptionally fine this year, according to Foll, and there will be three new classes for home uses of gladiolus. After the judging on Saturday the Rose Show will set up an information booth.

Compromise Found By Senate for State Redistricting Act

Hope Bill Clears Way for Foreign Aid Authorizations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders have worked out a compromise on a legislative reapportionment amendment and hope it clears the way for passage of the foreign aid authorization bill.

Action on the $3.3-billion foreign aid measure has been bogged down in dispute over the reapportionment issue, threatening to kill any chance for congressional adjournment before the opening of the Democratic National Convention Aug. 24 in Atlantic City.

The compromise amendment was introduced Wednesday night by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield as a co-sponsor. They hammered it out in cooperation with top Justice Department aides.

Delays Provided

It provides for delaying court-ordered reapportionment of state legislative seats, to allow a reasonable opportunity for state action, "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

While both Dirksen and Mansfield called it acceptable, it seemed certain to stir up sharp debate. Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., promptly served notice they would fight it.

And word from the House was that it failed to satisfy Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and others who vowed to fight a proposal first advanced by Dirksen.

Original Amendment

The original amendment Dirksen announced he would offer as a rider to the foreign aid bill provided for delaying for as much as four years enforcement of a recent Supreme Court ruling that both branches of a state legislature must be apportioned on the basis of population.

Dirksen urged the delay to allow time for action on a constitutional amendment he and others have introduced to permit seats in one house of a state legislature to be apportioned on factors other than population.

Although the compromise rider does not go as far as Dirksen urged, he told newsmen that he regarded it as "99 2-3 per cent mandatory."

He said it is "about as mandatory as you can get and still leave the door slightly open," without saying the Congress absolutely foreclosed the courts from acting.

Aid Pledged For Civil Rights Disturbances

Government to Cooperate With Local Authority

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson pledges that where help is needed his administration will work with local authorities to halt acts of violence, whether in the North or South.

He told the American Bar Association Wednesday: "No person, whatever his grievance, can be allowed to attack the right of every American to be secure in his home, his shop and in his streets. We will not permit any part of American to become a jungle where the weak are the prey of the strong and the many."

North or South

"Such acts must be stopped and punished — whether they occur in Mississippi or in New York."

Johnson also reasserted the intention of the United States to achieve orderly settlement of disputes in Viet Nam and Cyprus.

"It is our duty," he said, "to help settle any conflict which might erupt into a wider arena. Some say we should withdraw from South Viet Nam. But the United States cannot and will not turn aside and allow the freedom of a brave people to be handed over to Communist tyranny."

Billboards Are Ordered Down

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — You'll be able to see a little more scenery from the highway in Santa Barbara County.

A judge has ordered removal of more than 200 billboards along U.S. Highway 101.

Superior Court Judge E. Perry Churchill upheld the county's billboard ordinance Wednesday. The County Planning Department said the billboards did not conform with the zoning codes in the areas in which they stood.

The county maintained that only nonconforming billboards had to be removed — such as billboards in residential areas not zoned for billboards.

The judge held that the county's ordinance is both reasonable and constitutional.

Britain Hangs Two Murderers

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Two young men were hanged today for murder as opposition to Britain's capital punishment law increased.

The men were Peter Anthony Allen, 21, and Gwynne Owen Evans, 24, daermen sentenced to death for the murder of John Alan West, 53, a laundry van driver, during a robbery.

The loot was a gold watch and two bank books.

Mississippi Grade School Is Integrated

Registration Is Scheduled Friday Under Court Order

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Registration for the first desegregated public school classes in Mississippi will take place Friday in this Gulf Coast resort city.

Mississippi is the last state to topple classroom racial barriers below the college level.

There was no estimate of how many Negro children would seek to register for first grade classes at nine previously all-white schools under federal court orders. Actual classroom work doesn't start until next month.

School and local officials plan to keep a tight security barrier around the schools, in an effort to keep down violence.

First Graders

The Biloxi school district had 801 first graders in the nine white schools last year and 178 first grade pupils in its one Negro elementary school.

The same court order which opened the first grade to Negroes here also directed the school systems of Jackson, the state's capital and largest city, and rural Leake County, birthplace of segregationist former Gov. Ross R. Barnett, to accept Negroes.

Desegregation under the court order will reach the second grade next year and continue upward on a grade-a-year basis.

Authorities said they will not permit television cameras and news photographers in the vicinity of the schools here Friday.

A central office will be set up to disseminate registration developments to newsmen.

Air Force Base

Biloxi, site of Keesler Air Force Base, has been free of racial discord which has swept other areas of the state recently — although four years ago there were outbreaks when Negroes attempted wade-ins along the white sand beaches.

First grade pupils in Jackson will register a week from today. In Leake County, three Negro schools began activities Monday.

The county's five white schools don't open until Aug. 28.

Negro leaders complained that the Negro schools were started earlier than the white schools to discourage integration attempts.

Rural schools in the state frequently begin classes in mid-August and suspend operations temporarily during the height of the cotton harvesting season later in the fall.

Bandit Gives Pill to Victim

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A bandit paused during a $100,000 robbery to give the victim a heart pill. Police said the pill may have saved Herbert Kronish's life.

Kronish felt a stab of pain as three gunmen confronted him and his wife in their Beverly Hills home Wednesday. He said he asked one of the men for help — and the man got the pill from a medicine cabinet and slipped it into Kronish's mouth.

The couple were left tied as the trio escaped with cash and jewelry including a $80,000 diamond ring. Kronish said he is part owner of the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Apologizes to Court

Negro Secret Service Agent Is Sentenced to 6 Years in Prison

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan has hailed the conviction of Secret Service Agent Ebrahim Bolden as absolute integrity of the U.S. Secret Service.

Bolden, the first Negro ever assigned to guard a U.S. president, was convicted and sentenced to six years in prison Wednesday of trying to sell government evidence in a counterfeiting case for $50,000.

He had charged that the government framed him because he planned to tell the Warren Commission about laxity and drunkenness among Secret Service agents assigned to guard President Kennedy in 1961.

"The verdict completely rejects the outrageous charges made by the defendant and confirms the public's belief in the absolute integrity of the U.S. Secret Service," Hanrahan told newsmen.

He said it was to Bolden's credit that he "apologized for the charges he made against the Secret Service and the government in general."

Bolden, 29, made his apology in a tearful plea for mercy after his conviction was announced.

Before sentencing in U.S. District Court by Judge Joseph Sam Perry.

"If during the period since my arrest, I made any statement that might have indicated

I disrespected the United States government," Bolden said, "I still believe the United States government is the fairest and most important institution in the world today."

He added that such statements were made because "of the pressure I was under at the time."

Bolden wiped tears from his eyes as he stood before Judge Perry.

"I want you to take into consideration that I do have a wife and three children, and I am asking for mercy—please have mercy on me."

When Bolden finished, Judge Perry said: "You have been sentenced to six years in prison."

Bolden joined the Secret Service in 1960. He was assigned to guard the White House guard in Hyannis Port, Mass., during June and July 1961.

Exiled Cuban Children Adjusting Well in U. S.

BY THEODORE A. EDIGER
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Mama, don't you know me any more? I'm Juan"

"It had been three years since Juan's mother sent him to the United States to escape Communist indoctrination in Cuba. He was 13 then."

His mother, who had arrived from Cuba by way of Mexico to join him, crushed him in embrace when she finally recognized him in crowded Miami International Airport.

Twin Sons

Another Cuban mother, reunited with her twin sons, shook her head and said, "They have grown so much, I am a little afraid." They were 12 when they left Cuba three years ago.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bryan O. Walsh, Miami director of Catholic Welfare Service and a leader in finding foster care for unaccompanied Cuban children, related these recent incidents. He said such drama occurs frequently in this child-emigre movement, one of the largest in American history.

One Cuban boy, 8-years-old when he left home, became so attached to his American foster parents that he wanted to remain with them when his mother arrived three years later. He asked social workers to "get a little foster boy for my mother so I can stay here."

More than 16,000 unaccompanied children have arrived in Miami since late 1960.

These temporary "orphans in exile" and more than 80,000 other Cuban children, who are with their parents, have scattered throughout the United States.

Thousands have reached adulthood in exile. Other thousands, born in exile, are American citizens.

"A young Cuban generation is growing up with Americans, and adjusting quickly," a social worker observed.

When plane service between the United States and Cuba stopped in October 1962, the migration slackened. But children still arrive almost daily, most of them now with their parents.

Nearly all come in small boats, a hazardous escape route.

Foster Care

Some 2,500 children remain under foster care. Since Cubans are predominantly Roman Catholic, the Catholic Welfare Service handles most of their cases.

Children's Service Bureau, a nondenominational public agency, sees after Protestant children. The Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society finds homes for Jewish emigres.

Some of the young refugees live in foster homes. Others, such as 700 in Miami, are under group care. They are kept busy with sports, music, games and work to ward off homesickness.

Among the largest concentrations are 160 in Yakima, Wash., and 158 in Albuquerque, N.M. In Helena, Mont., 40 boys were reported living in a former governor's mansion.

Among other cities with large numbers of the children are New York City, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco, St. Louis and San Antonio, Tex.

Boy Accused Of Slaying Faces Judge

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A 15-year-old boy stood with head bowed as he admitted in juvenile court Wednesday beating to death with stones and rocks an 11-year-old girl who resisted his attempts to molest her sexually.

He is held in the death of Janette Joy Kruzyczki, whose semi-nude body was found Tuesday night 100 feet inside a storm sewer tunnel on Milwaukee's South Side. The girl, the only child of a brewery worker and his wife, had been missing since Friday when she left for a swim at a nearby park pool.

The county medical examiner said her skull was crushed, apparently by one of the stones found near the body. She also had suffered numerous cuts and bruises.

Helped in Search

The boy was taken into custody Tuesday night, shortly after the girl's body was found by Michael Dehne, 16, who, police said, unknowingly enlisted the aid of the slayer in a search for the girl.

Under Wisconsin law, a juvenile under 16 may not be identified nor charged with a criminal act, but may be held in custody by the Department of Public Welfare until the age of 21. The boy will be 16 on Nov. 30. He has a record of one previous juvenile court appearance.

The boy appeared before Ozaukee County Judge Charles Larson, presiding in court here. The judge continued the hearing until next Wednesday to permit the boy's parents to hire an attorney and for further investigation, and if necessary, psychiatric examination.

dollars can almost always be squeezed out of the slimmest budget. The trick is to take out a certain amount for savings the very first thing — even if it's only a couple of dollars a week. Then work with what you have after savings. The most logical categories to raid are "car operation," "food" and "miscellaneous" expenses.

Make up your mind to watch your car expenses as carefully as if you had to lay out cash each time you use the car. You'll be surprised how many short hops you can eliminate. Watch what you spend on gifts and knickknacks. Pass up a bargain in clothing if you don't really need it. Let your meal planning be guided by that week's "specials" at the supermarket. Never overlook a chance to save a dime as well as a dollar.

Dear Miss Feeley, I am 36. My husband is 41. We have one son 14. We seem to manage well enough as far as expenses, but time, and triple time for holidays just doesn't seem to be days.

My husband does maintenance ways count on (for 48 hours) is $130.50 before deductions. Our mortgage payment, taxes and insurance included, is $111 per month. We have a car payment of $40 per month.

Could you please help me set up some sort of plan whereby we could save something each week? Thank you so much.

Mrs. R. B., Rockford, Ill.

Dear Mrs. B.,

Figuring your husband's take home pay at $112.50, I can see that your normal living expenses pretty well eat up the whole amount. With housing at $111 a month; food, say, at $95 a month; that car loan at $40; plus household operating costs, medical costs, the expense of operating the car, insurance premiums, job expenses, etc., you just about come out even.

But why in the world can't you put every dollar of your husband's overtime pay in a savings account? Double and triple time earnings can run up fast and you won't even feel the pinch. Just get into the habit of banking that overtime without even thinking twice about how you might spend it.

Of course, regular planned savings are always the most dependable, and a few extra ow's benefits on your first husband's social security account.

Or, if the second marriage were absolutely void under the state law, or there should be a court decree annulling the marriage effective from the date the marriage took place, you could claim the original social security benefits again. If, however, the state law granted you permanent alimony upon the annulment, you could not claim social security benefits from your first husband's account.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Wash 'n Wear Complexion

Even a real kooky teen would not be careless about the cleanliness of her best formal. Would she now?

How is it then that so many damsels forget all about the "quality - needs - quality - care" philosophy when it comes to the complexion? Skin is the finest of fabrics with the most in the way of wash-wear qualities. Soap and water keeps a good skin good, and helps to improve a faulty one.

The washing technique that gives the cleanest, clearest results starts with "spot cleaning." Simply apply thick soap-suds, with fingertips or complexion brush, to the forehead, nose and chin. Then massage those areas well and follow up with a thorough warm-water rinse.

Now lather the entire face, let the lather set for a few moments, and rinse until the skin loses its sudsy slip. Finish with splashes of cold water and pat dry.

Occasionally, before washing, hold your face over steaming water. Steam encourages the pores to release impurities. It also brings up a wonderful fresh glow.

To appear presentable, skin has first and foremost to be fresh. Oh, it may also benefit from medi-care. But the effectiveness of either depends on cleanliness.

A soiled dress can go back in the closet but, willy-nilly, you have to wear your skin.

Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types; proper application of either depends on cleanliness.

Your Problems

Call Family Conference to Fight 'Battle of the Bathroom'

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you can solve this one you are up early and try to beat their a genius. The problem: Four sisters into the bathroom. When children, two adults, one bathroom.

The girls, 15 and 17, usually get in first. They spend about 20 minutes (together) putting on make-up and combing each other's hair. This makes the boys, 12 and 10, furious.

Some mornings the boys get into the bathroom. When they succeed the girls bang on the door and raise such a ruckus my husband (who doesn't have to go to work until noon) gets out of bed and adds to the bedlam by screaming at them.

I've begged my husband for a second bathroom but he says, "We had nine kids in our family and the bathroom was outside. We managed to grow up all right."

Please tell me what to do. — Tired Blood

DEAR Tired: If it's any consolation to you, Madame, a house with four kids and one bathroom is usually happier than a house with four bathrooms and no children.

Hold a family conference. Tell the girls what time to go in — and what time to get out. Buy them a wall mirror so they can apply their make-up and comb their hair in the bedroom. Make it clear that if the girls don't go in on schedule they lose their place to the boys.

This should end the Battle of the Bathroom, which, incidentally is an old familiar all-American sport.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For three years I dated a fellow I will call Charley. He was like a brother to me and there was no hint of romance between us. Charley never even kissed me in all the years we dated. On two occasions he told me about girls he was sweet on and I coached him on how to romance them.

Last night Charley brought me a ring and asked me to marry him. I was speechless. I told him I had never thought of him that way and I was shocked that he wanted to marry me.

Well, Ann, he broke down and cried. He offered to build me a home, buy me a car and make me his queen forever. He left with eyes as red as tomatoes and said he'd call me in a week. I feel so sorry for him I could just die. He's a fine person but I can't see myself married to him. My mother says maybe I could learn to love him. She suggested that I write to you. Please help me. — No Words

Dear No Words: After three years of dating if the friendship hasn't caught fire, it never will.

A girl who marries a man because he cried (and she felt sorry for him) will surely wind up crying (and feeling sorry for herself).

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of five fine children. My husband's eldest sister is unmarried. Aunt Faye has a fine executive position and has invested her money wisely.

The problem is that Aunt Faye has been extremely fond of our eldest daughter, Rita, from the day she was born. Rita is 15 now and Aunt Faye has taken her on so many lovely trips that it is obvious to the rest of the children that Rita is her favorite.

This is causing bitter resentment against Rita. The other children are becoming openly hostile toward her. What, if anything, should be done about it? — R. B. S.

Dear R. B. S.: Parents should not permit relatives to make a "pet" of one of their children. It breeds envy and hard feelings which could last forever. Insist that the favoritism be stopped at once.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' newest booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing along, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Teen-Age Daytime Babysitter Pros and Cons Discussed

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: You're missing the best reason for letting a teenager take a job working as a babysitter: it gets her out of the house and gives her something to do!

Other wise she'd be spending the whole day on the phone or in front of the mirror putting up her hair. I encourage my 15-year-old daughter to take babysitting jobs and so do most of the mothers I know. MRS. C. O.

How about encouraging your daughter to visit your museum and library at least once a week? She'll find plenty there to keep herself interested and busy. And unless your household is unusual, there ought to be some ways she could help you out at home for an hour each day, too.

Dear Dr. Jones: I'm 16 years old and I have to admit that lots of what you say about teenagers babysitting is true. But what would you do in my situation? If I stay at home, I get stuck with taking care of my little brother, who's four years old, and cleaning the house and fixing the meals. My mother thinks it's foolishness for me to want to go out just to see my friends. The only time she lets me leave during the daytime is when I go babysitting and I bring the money home to her. And the women I sit for are a lot nicer to me than she is and I work a lot less for them. — MISS T. D.

Your thoughtful letter shows you realize that you're simply choosing the lesser of two evils. This won't help you get the leisure a girl your age needs to grow and blossom. And you're doing a disservice to the children you're caring for as well.

Ask your church leader for help in discussing this with your mother. Your family M. D. or the principal of your school can help, too.

Dear Dr. Jones: You missed one of the important drawbacks to having teenagers babysit during the daytime. That's the fact that the average teenage girl will take advantage of the situation and will invite her boyfriend over. Mothers who hire girls like this should have their heads examined. — MR. H. L.

If that's seriously your view of majority of teenage girls, you need some help too. In my experience, most teenagers realize that they're playing with fire to invite a boy to visit when unchaperoned. And the girls who like themselves don't risk hurting themselves. The others are still not the majority—and they'd probably do the same thing at home, anyhow

To receive a copy of Dr. Jones' pamphlet, "Telling Your Teenager About Sex," send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Eve Jones, care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

TAFFY'S TIPS

By Dolly Martin

Hairstyle For a Round Face

Girls with round faces can wear many styles because all you're trying to do is cut the roundness a little and make your head more of an egg-shape. Remember, it's a little height that is needed to try and get this oval look. Keep sides straighter. You can have a flip-up if you like this look but keep it just below chin level.

Flat dipping waves around the face is pretty, too. Round-faced girls can also look good in a short hair-do, as shown, and find that it is not only easy to keep smooth and smart but can be worn in the winter as well as summer. Keep the height on top, try a bang if you like, but smooth back at the ears for a flat side effect. The hair-do shown can be cut very short for a carefree, saucy, boy-like bob.

carded a heart on the second round of trumps, and South grunted dismally.

Declarer went up with the ace of spades and started the diamonds with the ace and then the ten. This did him no visible good. West took the queen of diamonds and returned the jack of clubs to force out dummy's king.

Declarer was in the dummy for the last time, with nothing set up. He had to lose a trick in each suit. If I'd been on hand with some of my crying towels, South would have bought a case of them.

Early Mistake

South made his mistake at the second trick when he needlessly removed the king of spades from dummy. After winning the first trick with the ace of clubs South should lead out the ace of spades and then the ace of diamonds.

Declarer then continues with the ten of diamonds, giving West a trick with the queen. West returns a club to dummy, and declarer leads back the jack of diamonds, discarding his losing club.

"All very well," you object, "but what if East can trump this trick instead of being out of trumps?" In that case, South the ace of clubs, led a spade will overruff a low trump and to dummy's king and returned doesn't have to lose a trump a spade from dummy. East dis- trick. If East has the queen of spades and ruffs with it, South can discard a loser in clubs or hearts.

As the cards lie, West gets a second diamond trick, but no club. South gets to dummy with the king of spades to discard his losing heart on the nine of diamonds. West can take his queen of spades whenever he likes, but South does not lose a heart trick.

Big Push Is On Fall Sales Prospects Appear Most Promising

NEW YORK (AP) — Autumn, even if their minds are preoccupied now with labor negotiations nearing a climax. If the new models being readied prove popular with the customers, the auto industry hopes for another big sales year ahead, which would be a record in itself on top of three good years in a row.

The big push is true of the garment makers and the steel mills, of the retail merchants and the food processors, of the aviation industry and the building suppliers.

At its half-way mark the year's third quarter already has turned in a better than usual report. For most businesses the summer slump has been relatively mild. For many the fall prospects look more promising than last year. Only a few still fret because the long economic expansion appears too good to be sound.

Record Year
Steelmen talk resolutely of turning 1964 into a 120 million-ton year, a record. They base their hopes on a pickup in August orders, and the lengthening in delivery times for a basic product, heavy plates. Automen are just as confi-have mushroomed in recent years, are confident that they will go on getting a larger share of the consumers' ever-growing stack of spending money.

All regions of the nation won't share in this prosperity, if it materializes on schedule, but enough should to make the final months of the year better than last — with the growth perhaps as impressive as in the record first half of the year.

Orvieto Will Never Forget Visit of Pope

Marked the First Papal Journey By Helicopter

BY BENNET M. BOLTON
ORVIETO, Italy (AP) — The people of Orvieto are not likely to forget the visit of Pope Paul VI, which marked history's first papal journey by helicopter.

A crowd of 50,000, including many tourists, got their first glimpse of the pontiff Tuesday while he was still aloft in the aircraft that brought him 75 miles north from Castel Gandolfo, his summer residence.

The churning beat of the Italian Air Force helicopter echoed against the towering facade of Orvieto's 13th-century gothic cathedral as it hovered overhead.

Spontaneous Roar
Upward past Orvieto's fluttering renaissance banners of cross, lion, and black eagle rose the spontaneous roar of "Paolo, Paolo."

The helicopter appeared over Orvieto at the height of a medieval pageant marking the 700th anniversary of the Corpus Christi feast day.

Up its streets marched a procession of men in dark velvet cloaks and robes and shoes. Some carried maces and bright plumes. Others wore chain mail and battle casques.

Were it not for modern goods in the shop windows and home movie cameras in the hands of spectators, it could have been the Orvieto of 500 years ago.

About the time the pageant was lining the cathedral steps, Pope Paul stepped from the helicopter onto an asphalt parking lot alongside toll booths on the "Superhighway of the Sun."

Towering Walls
A car took him winding up under towering walls of the plateau where Orvieto has rested for centuries, past a road sign that said in English: "Lions Club of Orvieto meets every Wednesday."

Pope Paul celebrated Mass and spoke about the significance of this year's anniversary of the Corpus Christi feast day, the reason he came to the town known as "the eucharistic city."

Pope Urban IV was in Orvieto in 1264 to proclaim the Corpus Christi feast day for honoring the body of Christ in the eucharist.

After Mass the Pope spent almost an hour in the bishop's house while a crowd jammed cathedral square waiting to see him off by car for Castel Gandolfo.

Steel Companies May Break Line on Prices

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The steel industry of the United States is now floating a huge trial balloon labeled "higher prices" in the air over Washington and Wall Street, and unless the balloon is pricked by one of President Johnson's justly famed telephone attacks or by widespread consumer resistance, the odds are steel will break the long-enduring price line comparatively soon.

If this happens and if the price hikes are substantial and if they come before the November election, these could be the results:

(1) President Johnson would be put on a most uncomfortable political-economic spot, for whatever he would do or not do in the wake of important across-the-board price increases would be wide open to criticism. If he were to condemn the price hikes, for instance, he could be denounced for undue interference with the workings of the marketplace. If he were to remain silent he could be denounced for backtracking on his January pledge to call public attention to price-wage actions which "flaunt the public interest."

(2) Unless the price hikes were so slight, selective and scattered as to be comfortably absorbed by steel consumers, they might revive an inflation psychology here. Steel is far more than a fundamental industry in our country. It is a symbol of price stability or price instability.

(3) Any significant steel price increases could ripple out into a wave of price increases in industries which consume giant amounts of the basic metal. In thousands of products steel is a major cost factor. Against today's background of strong, solid, sustained business expansion, the temptation to other industries to pass on the steel price hikes in the form of price hikes on their own products would be very great.

(4) Fat steel price boosts—plus a hefty wage settlement in the auto industry—could end the remarkably prolonged phase of over-all price stability and reasonable wage increases which our country has enjoyed. The threat of a new price-wage (or wage-price) spiral again would become real.

(5) The industry itself would endanger the progress it has made against fierce foreign competition in the world's markets. Foreign steel prices have been rising while our prices have been steady. But the industry could throw away its new price advantages abroad by domestic price hikes.

(6) Any re-emergence of inflation psychology and a price-wage upswing would impel the Federal Reserve System to put a brake on credit to discourage excesses. Because no speculative excesses have marred our business expansion to date, the Federal Reserve has been able to follow the ideal policy of keeping credit comparatively easy and inexpensive to get. But should excesses appear, the Federal Reserve would "tighten" credit at once.

(7) The stage would be set for stiff bargaining by the steelworkers when their wage negotiations begin early next year. The steelworkers would have a lot of ammunition for their battle in high steel profits, record steel production, steel price increases and a hefty auto wage settlement.

None of these results would follow if the industry's executives posted price increases which were truly slight, selective and scattered. The steel companies certainly could decide they can finance their big spending for new plants and equipment out of profits. In the first half of 1964 profits of the leading steel firms were 17 per cent above the level of the first half of 1963. Steel output this year may easily touch 120 million tons, topping the all-time record set in 1955.

But despite the steel profit and production pattern, recent statements of steel leaders flash an unmistakable threat of more than slight, selective, scattered price hikes.

For a long time, the price-wage horizon of the United States has been extraordinarily clear. What happens in Pittsburgh and Detroit in the weeks ahead will decide whether it will remain so.

Veterans Group Seeks Survivors of Bataan Death March for Dinner

The Maywood Veterans Council is trying to locate survivors of the infamous Bataan Death March to attend a testimonial dinner in their honor at Chicago's O'Hare Inn, Sept. 12.

The Maywood Veterans Council is the official organization which notes Bataan Day nationally.

Council President Delbert W. Wilson said, "There are according to our information, only 638 survivors of the Bataan Death March, and it would be proper to have all of them in attendance Sept. 12 at the testimonial dinner at O'Hare Inn."

Wilson indicated that the Maywood Veterans Council also is seeking aid to "underwrite the cost of transportation and lodging for those men who personally cannot afford to come to Chicago for this observance."

Public Hearing Set on Unemployment Law This Fall in Appleton

Appleton will be one of four Wisconsin cities slated this fall for public hearings on the state's jobless benefit law. The hearing will start at 10 a.m. Oct. 22 in Appleton City Hall and will be conducted by the advisory committee on unemployment compensation. Planned to help shape the advisory committee's recommendations to the next legislature, the hearing is similar to those held every two years since 1952. It will offer management and labor groups, as well as citizens in general, an opportunity to present their ideas for improving Wisconsin's unemployment compensation law and administration. The other hearings are scheduled in Superior, Janesville and Milwaukee. All are expected to feature the law's benefit financing problems.

John Browning Best Yet in Music Festival

Soni Ventorum Woodwind Quintet and Orchestra Share Honors With Pianist

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK—John Browning wasn't playing at royalty here Wednesday night. He was the "Emperor" as he swept imperiously through a powerful, commanding performance of Beethoven's Fifth Piano Concerto.

The return of the popular young pianist as the Vera Wardner Dougan Award artist was the most exciting event of the 12th annual Peninsula Music Festival to date. Technically his performance was impeccable.

Nowhere was his control more in evidence than in the tricky introductory passages of the concluding rondo.

His compelling performance also drew the best out of what is a rapidly maturing orchestra. Throughout, the ensemble was keyed and alert to his every nuance, providing him with support that can only be described as superb.

The Soni Ventorum Woodwind Quintet made its solo bow in the American premiere of Boris Blacher's "Concert Piece" for woodwind quintet and strings, an unusual and murderous-ly difficult work. Only a closely coordinated group of virtuoso performers could have negotiated its constantly changing rhythmic structure and gragmented melodic line.

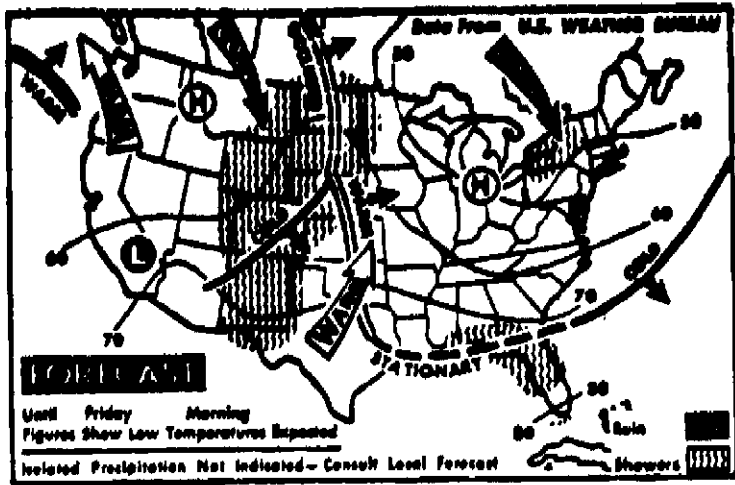

The Soni Ventorum was more than equal to its technical complexities which are more numerous than meets the ear, especially when accomplished with the dexterity of this group. There was nothing to choose between the polished and fluent tone, precision or accuracy of oboist James Caldwell, flutist Felix Skowronek, clarinetist William McColl, bassoonist Arthur Grossman or Robert Bonnevie, french horn.

To open the program the Festival Orchestra strings set the tone of the evening with a smoothly flowing reading of Stravinsky's Concerto in D.

Especially well done was the lyrical second movement, surprisingly gentle and melodic for Stravinsky. The ensemble played it with a singing tone that at times became downright Schmalzy.

Correction

The New London Board of Education in separate actions raised the price of school sporting events and voted to reimburse the athletic team health officer. A story in Wednesday's Post-Crescent implied that ticket prices were raised in order to provide funds to pay a token reimbursement to the health officer.

State Shivers Under Cool Air; Warmer Temperatures Seen

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The temperature dropped to 37 degrees in Superior early today and the rest of the state also shivered under a cover of cool Canadian air and generally cloudy skies.

Superior's reading of 37 was not only Wisconsin's low for the day but also equaled that city's record low, set Aug. 24, 1942.

Wisconsin's neighboring city in Iowa, Dubuque had a low of 49 which broke that city's previous record for the date, 52 degrees, set in 1888.

The cool weather was expected to continue today and tonight with warmer temperatures Friday.

The state's high Wednesday was 67 at Green Bay.

A huge mass of cold air from Canada, fanned by stiff northwesterly winds, covered wide areas from the Dakotas to the Atlantic Coast and southward nearly to the Gulf region today.

The autumn-like weather in midsummer was in sharp contrast to the abnormally high temperatures in many areas last week. Temperatures in some sections headed for record low marks for Aug. 13. They dropped into the low 40s in parts of the Great Lakes region and into the 40s as far southward as the Ohio River.

In the West, heavy rain hit the normally arid sections of Arizona and New Mexico. Flood waters swept across Winslow, a town of 9,000 in northern Arizona, forcing evacuation of 17 patients in the Winslow hospital by National Guard troops. Some 20 families were evacuated from a south side residential district. About 100 homes were reported damaged by the flood waters. The floods followed Wednesday's heavy rain, with about three inches reported in a one-hour period.

Rains also fell in southern Arizona and caused minor flooding in downtown sections of Florence and Casa Grande, about 60 miles from Phoenix. In the Southeast, a thunderstorm dumped nearly three inches of rain on Columbus, Ga., in a two-hour period. Twenty-five persons were evacuated from their homes in low-lying areas.

Man Pays for Topsy Driving

Denies Charge, But Found Guilty In Calumet Court

A 44-year-old Stockbridge man, Wednesday was found guilty of driving under the influence of intoxicants in Calumet County Court.

Alvah Bunnell, 44, Stockbridge, was arrested July 11 by Chilton police after a car he was driving jumped the curb on E. Chestnut Street while heading west.

Bunnell appeared in county court July 13 and entered a not guilty plea. Trial was set for Wednesday.

Chilton Patrolman Gordon Calenberg told the court it took him about two minutes to revive Bunnell after he was found unconscious at the wheel.

Bunnell was fined $120 and costs and his driver's license was revoked for one year.

It's for a new cat food your cat will love and you can live with.

Mil-Kit, a new dry cat food, is guaranteed not to ruin your appetite. (You almost have to get inside the box to smell it.) But it will titillate your cat's appetite even if she's the fussy type. Mil-Kit contains meat and fish, and all the vitamins and nutrients a cat needs. And every bite is coated with powdered milk.

Just pour Mil-Kit out of the box. Add water and the milk coating becomes a delicious milk sauce.

Or, if your cat prefers Mil-Kit dry, serve it that way. Moist or dry she'll still be getting her milk. Let her decide which way she likes it best.

Mil-Kit is not a snack. It's a complete meal all by itself. And it comes to only about 3¢ a serving, roughly half the cost of canned cat food. Use the coupon above and it's even less. And that's not much to pay for a civilized cat food.

and the subway stopped running between East and West. The escape hatch was closed.

The eight crossing points kept open for foreigners and West Germans are strongly guarded.

Daring East Germans are still risking their lives to escape, but now they come over mostly in ones or twos.

At least 53 have been killed and 34 injured in attempts to breach the wall. Another 52 died on the 800-mile frontier between East and West Germany.

Nearly 20,000 East Germans have escaped since the wall was built—an amazing number considering the formidable obstacles.

House Demolished

Whole rows of houses have been demolished to clear a field of fire for the guards. Apartment blocks on the border have been evacuated and windows bricked up.

Western experts estimate that $3.5 million worth of concrete and barbed wire have been used on the wall and on barricades around West Berlin. The waste of man-hours has been enormous.

West police have counted 232

Many Victims

There may have been many more victims out of sight inside Communist territory. Security controls around Berlin begin many miles from the border.

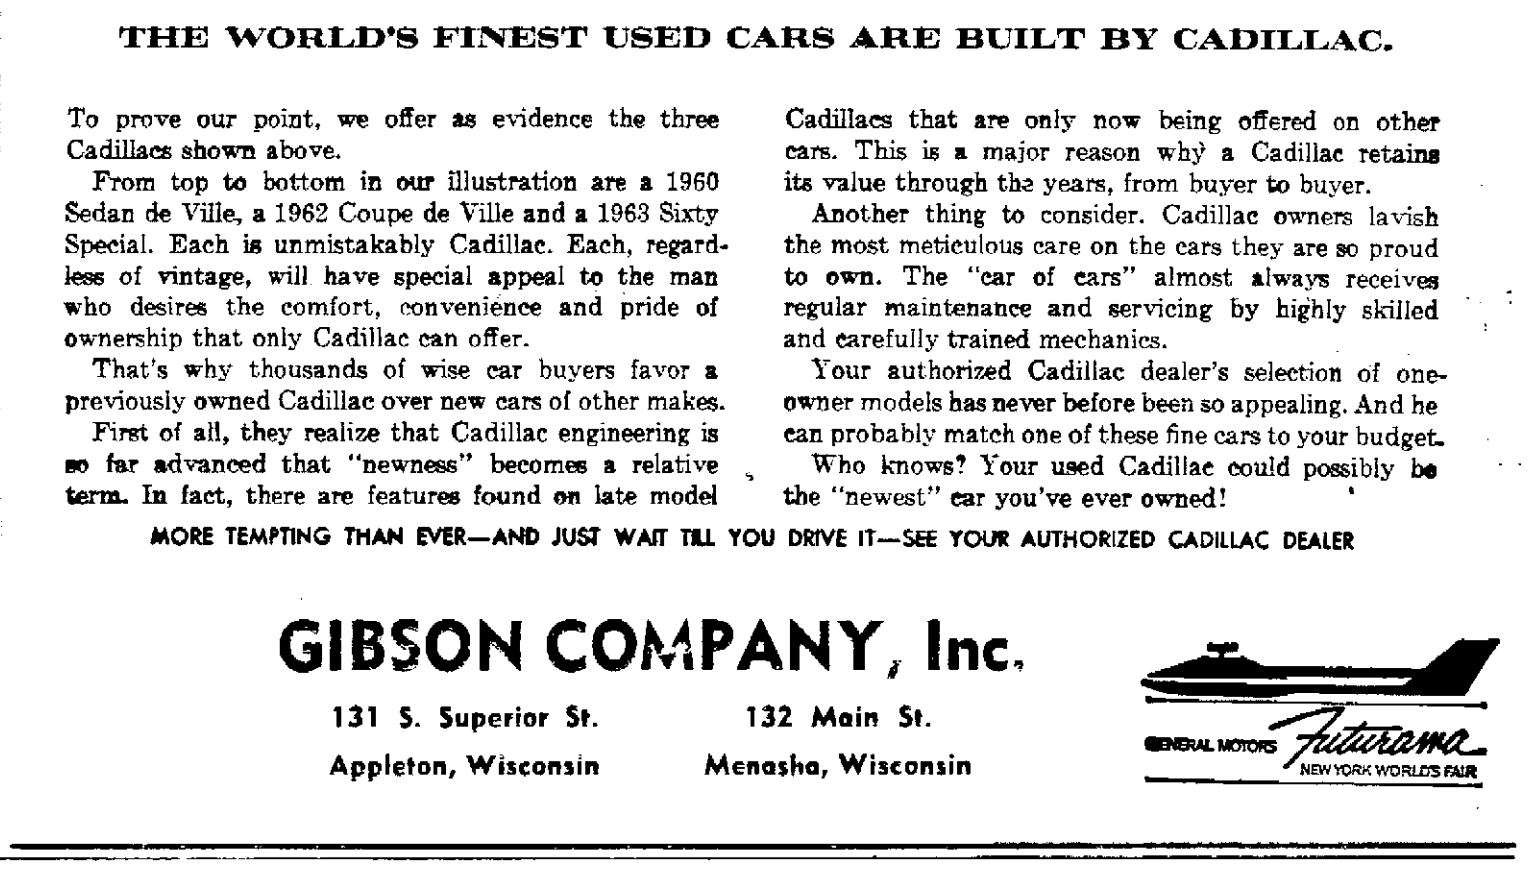

Planning to leave East Germany without official permission is a crime. A West Berlin refugee group calculates that prison terms totaling 12,000 years have been handed down by Communist courts for planning or helping escape.

Not all the Red guards enjoy their work. Since the wall, 1,633 of them have deserted to the West. Many of the young men who escape say they bolted to avoid being conscripted for duty at the wall.

The controlled East German press, including soldiers' magazines, is continually trying to bolster morale and alertness by the border guards. They are told the wall was a justifiable defense against a Fascist invasion and that their countrymen who try to cross it are traitors.

But it is obvious that many escapes have been made only because guards have looked the

Y. A. Tittle to Start Saturday At Green Bay

Giants Slate Griffing, Schichtle For Reserve Roles

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent News Service GREEN BAY — Y. A. Tittle will start against the Packers Saturday night.

And, after reading another couple of chapters of his book, "I Pass," last night, it can be deducted that the old master will be throwing the football around the City Stadium with great frequency.

News that coach Allie Sherman will start his balding ace was relayed here today by Don Smith, the Giants' publicity man who added that Y. A. will work "A quarter, maybe, a half—until he gets loosened up or until he feels he's had enough."

Tittle is a bid different than young fellers like Barrt Starr, John Unitas and others. Yat is in the upper 30's, approaching 38, and it takes a bit longer to get the soup-bone warmed up.

In addition, Sherman wants to get a good look at his No. 2 fliker, Glynn Griffing, the 23-year-old sophomore. Griffing will replace Tittle and will be getting his first test this year. Griffing did not play in the opening 21-7 loss to the Vikings last Saturday.

The job of following Tittle was given Rookie Henry Schichtle. Schichtle, incidentally, was Packer Bob Long's batterymate at Wichita last year.

The Giants have one of those quick-armed passers like George Mura on their roster and he may play a bit. This is Gary Wood, a 5-11, 188-pound grad of Cornell.

Wood was to be given a brief try at quarterback and then shifted to safety but "We haven't been able to get him away from quarterback," Smith said.

It appears that Frank Gifford will turn to Page 2, Col. 4.

Quad Cities' Homers Lead Way in 5-3 Victory Over Quincy

Quad Cities chopped a half game off Fox Cities' Midwest League lead by defeating Quincy Wednesday night, 5-3. Pete Gongola and Terry Tackett each slugged home runs for the Angels, who pushed to within 2 1/2 games of the Foxes.

Wisconsin Rapids pushed across a run in the bottom of the 12th to defeat Clinton, 4-3, and hand C-Sox relief ace Willie Hooker the defeat.

In the other ML contest, Waterloo nipped Decatur, 3-2, scoring twice in the last of the eighth. Cedar Rapids' game at Dubuque was postponed due to cold weather.

Mathews, Cloninger Spark Braves Past Houston, 5 to 1

Eddie Raps Homer, Double, 2 Singles; Tribe Heads West

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ed Mathews, admittedly having the worst season of his career, flashed his old form Wednesday night with four hits in five trips in leading the Milwaukee Braves to a 5-1 victory over the Houston Colts.

Mathews belted his 15th homer, and smacked a double and two singles, but even with this kind of production raised his batting average only seven points to .228.

The slugging infielder, who has been slowed nearly a month by a leg muscle injury, boosted his runs batted in total to 50. His home run was the 438th of his career.

Tony Cloninger's pitching was on par with Mathews' hitting.

Homer in 9th
Cloninger had a five-hit shut-out in the works going into the ninth inning. The Colts only run came on a two-out home run by rookie Dave Roberts. It was his first of the year.

Cloninger closed out the evening allowing seven hits, fanning eight and walking only two as he evened his record at 11 and 11. He gave up two other extra base hits, a double for Nellie Fox and a triple by Bob Lillis.

The Braves pounded three Colt hurriers for 11 hits, hanging the loss on starter Hal Brown, who lasted only a little over three innings in taking his 11th defeat in 13 decisions.

Mathews opened Milwaukee's first turn at bat with a single but was forced by Lee Maye. After an out, Joe Torre was safe on an error and Maye was able to score from second on a single by Ed Bailey.

Mathews started the third inning with his homer. The Braves added another run in the same inning as Maye doubled, got to third on an out and scored on Torre's sacrifice fly.

Bases Loaded
In the seventh, Mathews singled with one away and Maye and Hank Aaron walked, filling the bases. Torre singled Mathews home and Maye scored when Fox dropped a throw by Lillis in an attempted force play.

The victory kept the Braves in sixth place, a game and a half out of the first division.

Hogan Tabbed as Man To Watch in 'Carling'

DETROIT (AP) — Veteran players and eight winners of the pro Al Watrous tabbed Ben Hogan as the man to watch in the $200,000 Carling World Golf Championship at play extra long and this is going to be the long ball hitters like Palmer, Nicklaus, Lema and George Bayer a big advantage.

Watrous, who has been pro at Oakland Hills for 35 years, retage. "Watrous told newsmen at called that Hogan won the Na-a press briefing on tournament Open on the Long Course plans.

Bayer, one of the longest drivers in golf, generally strays quite a bit with his woods, but the official list of 155 starters in Watrous found this no handicap the 72-hole tournament, with for the big fellow.

Watrous conceded that many of the younger players would outride Hogan, but he added:

"I think that the idea of winning this tournament with the Masters and Tony Lema on hand as will Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bob Charles of Australia.

The 107 U.S. entries include 19 has always liked Oakland Hills who have won the National PGA and always has scored well tournament. 11 U.S. Open win here, so he might do it."

2,982 Watch Foxes Split Twin Bill With Burlington

Petryshyn, Caria Will Hurl Tonight

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

The Fox Cities Foxes achieved another turnstile success here Wednesday night but surrendered a half-game of their lead in the ever-tightening Midwest League race.

While the front-running Foxes were splitting a doubleheader with Burlington before 2,982 fans at Goodland Field, runnerup Quad Cities was beating Quincy, 5-3, to move within 2 1/2 games of the lead.

The potent bat of Fred Rico and the trusty arms of Tom Zink and Fred Beene enabled the Foxes to salvage the second game of the twin bill, 6-1, after being thumped, 9-3, by the Bees in the opener.

5,163 Ahead of '63

Despite the autumnal chill in the August air, the second largest crowd of the home season turned out for the "Foxes Advertisers' Night." The turnout brought the impressive figure for the last seven home dates to 19,312 and puts the club 5,163 ahead of last year's pace for the same number of dates with a total of 39,392.

Tonight the Foxes play their second straight double bill and third in the last four days. Southpaw Ed Petryshyn and right-hander Steve Caria, each with only two days rest, will face the Bees, who hold a 6-4 season's edge over the Foxes. The first game starts at 6:30 p.m. at Goodland Field.

After left-hander Tony Pierce and the Bees snapped the Foxes' home victory streak at nine straight in the inaugural, the Billy DeMars - managed club had little difficulty getting back on the victory track. Behind the combined 4-hit pitching of Zink and Beene, the Foxes notched their 17th victory in the last 20 games and 21st win in the last 25 starts since July 21.

Zink worked the first 4 1/2 frames of the nightcap, allowing only two safeties. However, when he issued his sixth walk

Mantle, Bowens Star as Yankees, Orioles Post Wins

Chisox Fall to Yanks, 7-3; Baltimore Notches 7-0 Verdict

BY TED MEJER

Mickey Mantle and Sam Bowens could say it was a case of the old man with the stick and the rookie slugger with the will.

Each of them hit two homers and made the headlines in the American League Wednesday.

Result: The first place Baltimore Orioles increased their lead to two games over the Chicago White Sox while the New York Yankees remained 3 1/2 games back.

Mantle, veteran Yankee outfielder, hit a tape-measured homer of just over 500 feet and one of 350 feet in the Yankees' 7-3 triumph over the White Sox. Bowens, rookie outfielder for the Orioles, connected for homers of 375 and 425 feet in Baltimore's 7-0 shutout over the Boston Red Sox.

Came in the Fourth
Mantle's long clout came in the fourth inning off Ray Herbert and was the first to be measured at Yankee Stadium.

The ball went into the center-field bleachers over a screen, 22 feet 5 inches high, at the 461-foot mark. It landed 15 rows back in 1949 and Mantle 10 years ago.

In other AL games, Los Angeles defeated Cleveland 4-2, Detroit downed Minnesota 6-2 and Washington edged Kansas City 1-3.

Rookie pitcher Mel Stottlemyre shared the spotlight with Mantle for the Yankees as did veteran Milt Pappas with Bowens for the Orioles.

Up From Richmond
Stottlemyre, a righthander up from Richmond of the International League, pitched a seven-hitter and issued only one walk against the White Sox in his first major league start. Pappas tied the score against Roger, yielded only five hits to the Red Craig on Hal Lanier's run-pro-

Giants Tumble 4 Games Behind Philadelphia

Lose to St. Louis, 6-4, as Phils Win; Koufax Gets 18th

BY MIKE RATHET

The San Francisco Giants, tripping over former teammate, Bill White, have taken the first big tumble in the National League pennant scramble.

White, the slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, slammed three hits and triggered two rallies in a 6-4 victory over the second-place Giants Wednesday night that opened a big gap between the leading pennant contenders.

The defeat, coupled with Philadelphia's 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, gave the first-place Phillies a four-game lead — the largest margin either team has enjoyed in the season-long struggle for the top spot.

White was with the Giants until the end of the 1958 season when he was found expendable by the Cardinals for Don Choute and Sam Jones. White is the only one still in the majors, a fixture with the Cardinals and currently the hottest hitter in the league.

The 30-year-old left-handed swinger extended his hitting streak to 20 games against the Giants — tying the majors' top mark for the season. During that stretch he has hit at a .432 clip, raising his average from .273 to .310.

White collected a double in the first inning, drove in the Cardinals' first run in a four-run triumph with a single, then triggered the winning two-run uprising in the seventh with another single.

Other Games
While the Phillies and Giants continued their team struggle, Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers added to his laurels by posting his 18th victory with a 4-1, five-hit victory over Cincinnati. In other games, Milwaukee whipped Houston 5-1 from Richmond of the International League, pitched a seven-hitter and issued only one walk against the White Sox in his first major league start. Pappas tied the score against Roger, yielded only five hits to the Red Craig on Hal Lanier's run-pro-

Laird Advises Businessmen On Contracts

Concentrate on
One or Two, He Tells Audience

Washington (AP) — A group organized to obtain more government contracts for the Midwest has been told by Rep. Laird, R-Wis., to concentrate on one or two projects "and get victory."

"No one will respect us unless we win," Laird said Tuesday at a meeting of governors and members of Congress from 12 states.

Laird, who was applauded for his recommendations, also said the organization of a group to seek more contracts "means little unless there is a follow through."

Research Dollars

Laird, a member of the House appropriations subcommittee on defense funds, said that 76 per cent of the research dollars are going to coastal areas.

As an example, he said the Environmental Health Center, expected to cost $78 million, probably will be built at Beltsville, Md. Laird said it should be established in Cincinnati, the Taft Center.

"We are going to lose that in the Conference committee," Laird said. He meant that when House and Senate members agree on the appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Beltsville probably will be designated as the site for the center.

Gov. John W. Reynolds said he was satisfied that the organization to promote the Midwest was a step nearer reality.

"I believe this group eventually will stimulate the economy of the entire Midwest," Reynolds said.

Sharp Statements

The meeting was marked by sharp statements critical of a lack of action so far.

"This is an exercise in futility," said Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis. He said there was a serious lack of co-operation last year in the unsuccessful drive to get funds to begin construction of a $150 million atomic accelerator near Stoughton, Wis.

"We needed help then and didn't get it," Zablocki said.

The conference to plug for industrial and scientific expansion in the Midwest is slated for formal organization at a midwestern governor's conference opening Sept. 9 in Minneapolis. The Tuesday meeting was the second preliminary session. The governors or their representatives met earlier with midwestern members of the Senate.

Flowers I have known

by CHARLES HOUSE

I know the poppy.
So beautiful, so useful — so deadly!

Of its beauty, a sensitive writer once said, "Wherever it is seen—against the light or with the light—always it is a flame, and warms the wind like a blown ruby."

According to a tale of classical mythology, the poppy was created by Somnus, the god of sleep. It is clear from this that our ancestors knew the truth — that from the delightful plant comes opium.

Though the seeds are good to eat and have been used to flavor bread and rolls for many centuries, and though the blossoms are beautiful, and though narcotics are a greater blessing than not, the plant is regarded with awe by many. And is it not strange that the poppy, this flower of sleep and oblivion has been chosen as our symbol of remembrance?

Athletes in the ancient days of the olympics ate poppy seeds mixed with honey and wine. The ripe seeds contain no opium and are rich in oil and plentiful.

Linnæus counted 32,000 seeds in one poppy head. The opium, known and used by the ancients since 3,000 centuries B.C. is made from the sap of the green seed pod. Said one writer of the 17th century: "It mitigateth all kinds of pains, but it leaveth behind it oftentimes a mischief worse than the disease itself."

Opium somewhat plentifully eaten doth also bring death."

No Relaxation in Sight Until Phillies Cop Flag

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — Mention the word relax and you can see the blood pressure mounting in Gene Mauch, manager of the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies.

"Can you imagine anybody asking if we can relax a little now that we're in front by several games?" asked Mauch after the Phillies edged the Chicago Cubs 6-5 Wednesday.

"We've got to hit a three-run homer in the eighth and we're ahead 4-2. It looks like we're in free. Then, all of a sudden the Cubs have the tying run on base in the ninth."

"Relax — you can't for a single minute in this game. But I'll tell you when we can relax. That's when the mathematics get on your side and say we're in without any chances of being out."

The Phillies seek a series sweep against the Cubs today to have a six-game winning streak. This would match the longest in the league this season. The St. Louis Cardinals had one earlier.

Five Straight
"We've won five straight at three different times, but never have been able to get a half dozen," said Mauch.

In his first 87 games, Covington has 69 hits and his homer over the right field bleachers Wednesday padded his RBI's to 44.

"We are thinking about one thing — more W's — that means wins," said Covington. "We're getting them any way we can. Recently in Milwaukee, a .208 hitter (Bobby Wine) got two homers that won a pair for us."

"The big reason we're where we are is being of two magic men — John Quinn (general manager) and Mauch (Mr. Quinn's deals have made this team. He got Tony Taylor, (Cookie) Rojas, (Johnny) Callison, (Gus) Triandos, (Jim) ducing single and Willie Mays' 34th homer, a three-run shot.

The Cardinals, however, regained the lead in their half when White started things with a single and came around on singles by Ken Boyer and Dick Groat. Boyer scored the final run on a wild pitch by Billy O'Dell.

Trailing 2-1 after Ron Santo's homer had put the Cubs out front, the Phillies moved ahead to stay in the eighth when John Briggs stroked a pinch-hit single, Richie Allen walked and Wes Covington tagged Larry Jackson for a homer.

Fifth Straight Win
The Phillies added two runs in the ninth on Bobby Wine's single and they proved decisive when the Cubs scored twice in their half before Jack Baldschun pitched out of the jam. It was the Phillies' fifth straight victory.

Koufax, now 18-5, had a shut-out until the seventh when Deron Johnson homered for the Reds. The Dodgers put it out to reach early against Jim O'Toole, 12-5, scoring twice in the second on a single by Tommy Davis, an error, John Roseboro's single and Johnson's fumble of an attempted pickoff.

Eddie Mathews got the job done for the Braves, drilling a homer, double and two singles in support of TVONY Cloninger who balanced his record at 11-11. Cloninger had a five-hit shut-out until DKAVE Roberts produced the Houston run with a two-out homer in the ninth.

Dennis Ribant, making his first major league start for the Mets after being acquired in a trade with the Braves, was tagged for a solo homer by Willie Stargell in the fourth and a three-run shot by Jerry Lynch in th fifth and that proved decisive for the Pirates.

They'll Do It Every Time

Defense One of Problems

Colts Hope to Get Off to Faster Start; Unitas Sharp With Passes

BY JACK HAND
WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Don Shula hopes to get his Baltimore Colts out of the gate in a fast start despite the retirement of Gino Marchetti, the perennial all-National Football League defensive end.

Don Thompson, a 6-foot-4 1/2, 240-pounder in his third year of pro ball, must fill Marchetti's shoes if the Colts front four is to hold its own with the other powers. If Thompson doesn't make it, Shula will have to do some fast shuffling, perhaps moving Fred Miller to the outside.

Won 5 of Six
"Our main idea is to get off fast," said Shula at the training camp on the campus of Western Maryland College. "Last year we lost three of the first four and dropped out of contention. We want to pick up where we left off last fall when we won five of the last six down the stretch."

Shula was new to the club himself last year, his first as head coach. He also had to fit eight rookies into the 1963 squad. Veterans will man most of the key positions this season. "Johnny Unitas is throwing real sharp," said Shula. "He started slowly last year but he was fantastic in the second half. Unitas is just the best quarterback in football. And that goes for everybody."

"We'll be better off on offense from the start. A year ago we didn't know John Mackey was as good as he is. We didn't have a fullback until Jerry Hill got going. Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr were out and Lenny Moore missed half the season. Tom Matte did a whale of a job at Moore's position. We can count on him. Whatever we get out of Moore will help. We also are counting on help from Tony Lorick, our No. 2 draft choice from Arizona State."

Best Chance
Lorick at fullback and Ted Davis of Georgia Tech at line-backer are the newcomers with the best chance to fight their way into starting positions. Unitas has his favorite target, Berry, in action at split end and Mackey, touted as "a new Mike Ditka," at tight end with Orr at the flanker. Hill at fullback and Matte or Moore at running back. Willie Richardson backs up Orr and Gary Cuozzo is the second quarterback.

With Jim Parker, an all-league ace, at left guard the front offensive line is intact. Bob Vogel and George Preas man the tackles. Parker and

Also due for a good testing are Clarence Childs, the blazer who skummed 108 yards for the Giants' only TD vs. the Vikings on a kickoff return, and the club's No. 2 draft choice, big Steve Thurlow, a running back from Stanford.

Thurlow, at 216, is considered one of the club's best rookie backs. He's being groomed as a heavy duty guy—like Alex Webster and Jim Taylor, the two starting fullbacks.

So what are the Giants like on defense without Sam Huff, Andy Robustelli and Dick Modzelewski? This would be a good question to ask Starr come Saturday night because even Smith doesn't know right now.

Huff's middle-linebacker position houses Lou Slaby, a rookie from Pittsburgh.

One of Alongi's two defeats in 35 fights was to Daniels.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Alongi of Miami Beach, was found to be suffering from bone chips in his right elbow Wednesday night and declared out of his heavyweight bout against Doug Jones at Madison Square Garden Friday night in the television fight of the week.

Billy Daniels of New York was immediately named to replace Alongi. Daniels, with an 18-5-1 record, was outpointed by Jones in their fight at Teaneck, N.J., last year.

Dr. Mal Stevens of the New York State Athletic Commission said X-rays disclosed the bone chips. Dr. Stevens said he would be unable to fight for several months. He recommended that Alongi, a native of Passaic, N.J., undergo an operation without delay.

One of Alongi's two defeats in 35 fights was to Daniels.

Alex Sandusky are the guards and Dick Szymanski is at center.

More of Problem
Defense may present more of a problem to Shula's personnel. The return of Billy Ray Smith, who sat out last year, strengthens one tackle spot, with Miller at the other. Orrell Braase will be at his old end job. Marchetti's position is the problem.

The front line-backing trio of Jackie Burkett, Bill Pellington and Don Shinnick is being pressed by Bill Saul, Steve Stonebreaker and Davis.

Bobby Boyd and Lenny Lyles figure to fill the corner spots in the deep defense with Jerry Logan, Jim Welch and Andy Nelson scrambling for the safety positions.

Jim Martin, 40-year-old Notre Dame alumnus who won the Comeback of the Year award last season, will handle the placekicking. Tom Gilburg will do the punting.

3 All-Star Teams Lose In ARD Play
All-star teams found rough going in the Appleton Recreation Department games Wednesday night as three league champions were victorious against all-star squads.

The Giants beat the T-League stars, 8-4; Acme Press beat the Cub Boy's all-stars, 5-0 and Behnke's Clothing downed the Minor Boy's League stars, 7-5.

Tom Hanke paced the Giants in the T-League games with three hits. Mark Welhouse had a triple for the all-stars.

John Vogt pitched a 2-hitter for Acme Press against the stars. Bill Drier, Dennis Makinen and Tom Putzer each had a pair of hits for the winners.

Scott Hertzfeld had a triple and Joe Bouressa a double for the all-stars.

Tom Kamansky slammed a homer, double and single for Behnke's. Dennis Mannebach was the winning hurler and Don Brinkman took the loss. Darwin Tiede had a homer and single for the all-stars.

Wally Moore Raps 826 Aggregate For 4 Games
Wally Moore set the pace in the Hahn's 3-man bowling league with an 826 four-game series. Al Gast took game honors with a 228. He finished with a 793 set. Gast also included a 227 singleton.

Duane (Kat) Kassube mustered the runnerup set on 821 with the aid of a 225 solo. Hahn's Lanes (31-13) hold an 8-game lead over Valley School.

Miller Upsets Coated '9' in League Finale

AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE (Final Standings)
Coated Paper 10 1 Post-Crescent 10 1
AAL City Hall 8 1 Elm Tree 8 1
Miller Electric 1 1 Miller Electric 1 1

Last-place Miller Electric No. 1 surprised American Industrial League champion Appleton Coated in the final night of action for the season with a 17-13 victory.

AAL downed Post-Crescent, 12-1, and City Hall leveled Elm Tree, 10-0, on the 2-hit hurling of Bud Koehnke.

Miller's unloaded six runs in the top of the ninth for the win. Jim Weyenberg homered for the winners. Bob Hietpas and Roger Wilkie homered for Appleton Coated.

Jim Schultz and Bud King supported Koehnke's two-hit pitching with triples. Harold Oswald homered for AAL, and winning pitcher Tom Traeder limited the Newsmen to five hits. Dick Brautigam's double was the only extra-base blow for the P-C.

There will be sight and bare bow divisions in all events with exception of the team and clout shoots. The annual business meeting will be held Saturday (at 7:30 p.m.) The meet concludes with a banquet and awards Sunday night.

Foxes Split Doubleheader

of the game to lead off the fifth, he was replaced by Beene, who took charge of the remainder of the 7-inning game to log his eighth win in 10 decisions.

Lowers His ERA

Beene allowed no earned runs (giving two hits and no walks) to lower his breath-taking ERA to 0.98. He disposed of the last six Bees in succession.

Rico climaxed a big night as the offensive pace - maker by slamming two triples and a single in the nightcap to drive in three runs. For the twin bill, the right-fielder wound up with a prodigious 5-for-6, with five RBIs. Rico advanced to within one RBI of the club leader, Dave May, who has 68.

The Foxes took the lead in the initial inning of the nightcap, and never let it go. Bob Lewandowski beat out a bunt and advanced on two infield outs. Rico slammed a run-scoring triple to the right field corner. He scored on Stan Walters' line single to center.

The Foxes made it 3-0 in the third as John Matias tripled to right center and scored on a wild pitch. The Bees got on the scoreboard in the fifth on Arlie Burge's walk and Bill Bradley's double. (Bradley had led the first-game attack with a 2-run homer and two singles). Fox Cities sewed it up with a 3-run fifth inning that began with Bradley's miff of a Lewandowski pop fly. John Matias doubled, and May was passed intentionally to fill the bases. Rico rifled a 2-run single to center. The final run scored on a double play.

Bees Sting Husk

Rico's RBI single had given the Foxes the 1st-inning lead in the opening game, but it lasted only until the third when the Bees stung their hosts four times. Bradley's home run off the scoreboard accounted for the first two runs off starter and loser Al (Sparky) Lyle. After another single, Jerry Glass replaced Lyle. Burlington continued the scoring on Ken Jensen's RBI single and a passed ball.

Burlington batted around in the fourth, scoring five runs. The assault included a triple by Burge, three singles, a walk and an error.

The Foxes' remaining first-game runs scored on Henry King's sacrifice fly in the fifth and Rico's single in the sixth. Lyle was charged with his first defeat after two impressive wins for the Foxes.

FOX TALES: Ed Hawkins, who had been scheduled to pitch one of the games, aggravated an injury during the warm-up period and was replaced by Zink. . . . Tim Sommer, the club's winningest hurler (13-1), was taken off the disabled list and may pitch Friday. . . . Eddie Dancisak, former Appleton Papermaker manager and now a scout for the New York Mets, saw part of the twin bill and will be back tonight. . . .

Appleton's Tom Balza and Mrs. Richard Andres each won a wrist watch in the attendance estimation contest—and both hit the correct figure right on the head. . . . The Foxes will not play Saturday night because of the Bishop's Charities football game in Green Bay but will since the game in Clinton in a day-night doubleheader Sunday. . . . at Sunday's night game, Jim Krueger will receive a trophy from it's the other way around."

the Foxes for being voted the "most valuable player" in the Appleton Babe Ruth League. . . . All six BRL teams were guests at the games last night.

North Central Tops Previous
Volume Records

North Central Airlines reported today that it carried more passengers and cargo in July than any month in the company's 16-year history.

Frank N. Buttomer, vice president - traffic and sales, said a record 131,043 passengers were boarded, 19 per cent above July last year. An all-time single day was set July 31 with 5,203 passengers carried.

Freight rose to a record 134,885 ton miles, 27 per cent over July 1963.

Passenger miles also climbed to a high of 23,109,993. This is 19 per cent above last year.

Buttomer indicated that this summer is the "greatest travel season in the history of North Central, and advance reservations are very heavy." Through July the company has broken its own monthly passenger boarding record each month for two consecutive years.

The Minneapolis - St. Paul based airline serves 91 cities in 10 Midwest states and Canada over a 7,000-mile route system.

Open House for New Appleton Apartment
Planned for Weekend

An open house of The Executive House, newly completed multiple-apartment building in Appleton, has been scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The all-brick structure at 300 S. Meade St. is one of several built in Fox Valley communities by Bock Development Corp., Milwaukee.

A second Appleton unit, which is to be called The Carriage House and will feature early American styling, is scheduled for completion in September.

One-Third Accomplished
Big Planning Job Still Faces Conservationists

MADISON (AP)—In their 25 established by Trempealeau years of existence Wisconsin's County soil and water conservation districts are just getting a good 18th state to be completely or start on promoting the wise use of land into soil conservation of the state's 28 million acres districts of forests, croplands and pasture.

The State Soil and Water Conservation Committee has retained from city, town and leased a report which said that county governments as well as Wisconsin has accomplished from state and federal sources only one-third of the work needed on the land.

The report said that of Wisconsin's 14 million acres of forest and woodland more than 5 million acres still need reforestation and more than 3 million acres require timber stand improvement.

The committee stressed that soil and water conservation practices still are neglected on 61 per cent of the 12 million acres of cropland with erosion the major problem on 6 million acres.

Aid Pastureland
It was reported that 64 per cent of Wisconsin's 24 million acres of pastureland could be helped by plant food, reseeding, weed control and protection from overgrazing.

But the report said much progress has been made since 1938 when the first soil and water conservation district was

In 1956, Wisconsin became the first state to be completely or start on promoting the wise use of land into soil conservation of the state's 28 million acres districts of forests, croplands and pasture.

Districts are local units of government without taxing authority. Needed funds are obtained from city, town and county governments as well as from state and federal sources.

A 1954 federal law gave the districts the added responsibility of sponsoring local watershed development projects.

Brazil's Illegal Car Parkers Pay and Pay
SAO PAULO, Brazil AP — Rio de Janeiro solved its illegal parking problem by deflating the tires of violators. Sister city Sao Paulo has also come up with an effective solution.

Illegally parked cars are impounded. To recover the car, the owner must go to the proper department and pay the 20 cruzeiro fine. That's less than 2 cents.

The Paulistas have employed every trick in the book to make it complicated.

The owner must go in person. The pound is on the outskirts near the airport. No buses go by.

It is an expensive taxi ride or progress has been made since 1938 when the first soil and water conservation district was

Germans Slain at Wall Are Honored

West Berlin Mayor Places Wreaths on Memorials

BERLIN (AP) — West Germans paid homage today to the memory of 53 persons who died trying to flee across the Communist wall that has divided East Berlin from West Berlin for the past three years.

Mayor Willy Brandt laid wreaths on memorials along a part of the 26-mile-long Communist wall on its third anniversary. He also honored 52 other persons who paid with their lives attempting to cross the iron curtain border between East and West Germany.

Red Guards Fire Flares

East German border guards, showing signs of nervousness, fired 160 flares during the night. The flares are used to illuminate the wall. Police said the guards appeared to be in a state of alert.

West German police were ready for a possible riot similar to one that broke out at last year's anniversary.

Brandt placed the wreaths on simple wooden crosses bound with barbed wire in tribute to four of the victims who attempted to breach the wall three years ago.

Heffernan Will be Sworn in as Justice At 10 a.m. Monday

MADISON (AP)—Nathan S. Heffernan will be sworn in at 10 a.m. Monday as a member of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Justice William Dieterich. The oath will be administered by Chief Justice George R. Currie.

Heffernan, 44, a native of Sheboygan who has been the U.S. attorney for Wisconsin's western district since 1962, was selected for the post by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Malaysia Bans Entry Of Indonesian Citizens

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The government of Malaysia issued today an order banning Indonesian citizens from entering or remaining in Malaysian territorial waters.

The order will be effective Aug. 21 and came only 12 hours after another government order proclaimed territorial waters around the Malayan mainland and Singapore to be a "security area."

Home Affairs Minister Dato Ismail Bin Abdul Rahman said the new order is designed to counter Indonesia's avowed campaign to "crush" Malaysia.

Tension Marks Cyprus Peace

Officials Fear New Incident May Bring Renewal of Strife

Officially Fear New Incident May Bring Renewal of Strife

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Chances for peace on Cyprus were so precariously balanced today that U.N. officials feared an insult shouted across no-man's land could shatter the truce.

And in Nicosia, emboldened Turkish Cypriots have been screaming insults across the sandbagged "green line" that divides them from the Greek Cypriot sector.

The Turkish Cypriot minority appears convinced the threat of renewed Turkish air strikes restrains Greek Cypriots from any ground attack.

3 Men Rescue Girl From Sewer

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Leo Racette watched in horror as her 9-year-old daughter, Rita, stepped from their stalled automobile and fell into world that we will not compromise with the wall but that street.

Before anyone could help, Rita had been swept down a storm drain into a sewer. The onrushing rain waters carried her 75 feet underground and into the Willimantic River.

Three men saw the girl and two jumped in while the third far unsuccessful negotiations to hold out a stick from the bank. Together they managed to get through the wall and visit their relatives in East Berlin. The "God was good to us," said Rita's father Wednesday night.

Reds say observance of the wall's third anniversary is designed to foment cold war sound at their home in Springfield, Mass.

Vietnamese Find Deserted Camps Of Red Guerrillas

Encounter Little Resistance In Advance Through Jungle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A thousand Vietnamese troops, ferried into the jungle in a giant helicopter operation, had hoped to launch today a battle against a concentration of Communist Viet Cong. They found two deserted enemy camps.

Some 100 helicopters blasted Communist positions Wednesday and airlifted the troops 30 miles northwest of Saigon in the war's biggest airborne operation. Government forces anticipated a drive against the Communists expected to last several days.

Fail to Trap Reds

However, they met almost no resistance in moving through the dense jungle area. The enemy camps were evacuated and burned. Four guerrilla bodies and several rifles were found.

The troops had hoped to trap a mass of 2,000 to 3,000 Viet Cong.

The airlift, which involved every helicopter in the southern half of the country, resulted in the death of a U.S. helicopter pilot shot by a Communist. Two other Americans and a Vietnamese were wounded, the government said today.

Viet Cong authorities said in leaflets distributed the past week that they would no longer fight government troops but would attack only those units with U.S. advisers.

Continue to Assault U.S.

The government also said today that Communist guerrillas had overrun a fortified hamlet near Phan Thiet, a coastal town about 100 miles east of Saigon.

Ten defenders were injured and nine others were missing, the government said.

Communist North Viet Nam kept up its propaganda attack against the United States.

Radio Hanoi, in a broadcast monitored today in Tokyo, charged the United States with continued violation of its airspace and territorial waters in the wake of last week's retaliation.

Congress Approves Boost in Own Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress passed Wednesday and sent to President Johnson an appropriation of $210.3 million to pay congressional salaries and expenses.

Some congressmen said the language of the bill is aimed at greater public surveillance of congressional expenses.

Separate Senate and House action was by voice vote. The President is expected to sign the measure into law.

Raymond Peotter, 76; Soren Knudson Car Mishap Victims

A 76-year-old man, Raymond Peotter, 414 N. Appleton St., died about 7 p.m. Wednesday of crushing chest injuries he received when a car backed over him as he crossed a closed-traffic section of S. Badger Avenue.

Another accident victim was Soren D. Knudson, son of Lau Knudson, Iola, who died early today after an automobile crash Wednesday near Fredonia, N. Y.

Appleton police and Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said a car driven by Mrs. Joseph Suess, 1628 W. Packard St., backed into Peotter, then drove forward over the man's body. The accident occurred about 5:50 p.m. in the 100 block of N. Badger Avenue.

On Shopping Trip

Mrs. Suess, on her way to a shopping trip with her two children, drove past a barricade onto Badger Avenue near its intersection with W. Washington Street. She said she then noticed that she would not be able to proceed on Badger due to other barricades.

Mrs. Suess then backed up when she hit something which

4 Indiana Convicts Fail to Tunnel Their Way Out of Prison

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Four convicts nursed caloused hands and shattered dreams of freedom today in the Indiana State Prison.

They sat in solitary confinement while guards sealed a tunnel the inmates had worked more than a half-year to build.

Warden Ward Lane said the four apparently worked quietly on weekends, trying to chisel a tunnel through an eight-foot section of the outside wall with tools stolen from the prison machine shop.

He said he heard of a planned escape several weeks ago, but had hoped to catch the four at work. When guards found the tunnel's exact location, Lane decided to act.

"It would have taken them years to escape at the rate they were going," he said. Officials estimated the four began digging the tunnel six to eight months ago.

Ward identified the four as Thomas McMeans, 27, and Frank Black, 32, both of Rich-land, Ind.; George Clark, 34, of Muncie, Ind.; and James Scott, 32, of Glasford, Ill.

The convicts were attending a tribal initiation ceremony when the hut collapsed during the dis-tribution of the heaviest snowfall, last June. The bodies were not found until a thaw set in.

Nominee Says in Unity Appeal That He Does Not Seek Extremists' Votes

BY WALTER R. MEARS (AP) — Many Republican leaders saw today in Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential address a week ago at Eisenhower's farm party solidarity — but some in the GOP presidential nomination is out to build.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sounded the unity keynote with a warm endorsement of Goldwater and vice presidential nominee William E. Miller, and a promise to do all he can to help elect them.

"Any uncertainties I have felt as to the fitness, adequacy and quality of the political program they will offer to the United States in the 1964 campaign have been resolved," the former president said.

Many Rioters Held in 2 Cities In New Jersey

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Youths armed with gasoline bombs, bottles, rocks and bricks rioted in a multiracial neighborhood of Elizabeth and smashed car and store windows in a Negro district of Paterson Wednesday night and early today.

Helmets policemen with nightsticks restored order in both cities early today. It was the second night in a row in which violence broke out in the two northern New Jersey cities about 20 miles apart.

Attacks on Police

Elizabeth police tore into a crowd of young Negroes shortly before 2 a.m., subduing some of the youths with sticks, firing into the air, and making arrests. The brief battle followed bombing of at least three police cars with bottles, near misses on several motorcycle police, a flaring gas bomb that lit up an intersection and the explosion of firecrackers.

Elizabeth hospitals reported treating eight persons for minor injuries. About a half-dozen Negroes and whites were injured.

Clintonville Retains Ex-Head of Airline To Boost Boardings

St. Louis Man Will Attempt to Eliminate Need for City Subsidy

CLINTONVILLE — This city has retained a former president of North Central Airlines to act as promotional advisor for the municipal airport.

In a special city council session Wednesday, aldermen voted to appropriate not more than $1,000 from the general fund to hire Francis M. Higgins, St. Louis.

Higgins, first president of Wisconsin Central (now North Central) Airlines, and associated with Ozark Airlines for 11 years, had offered his services to the city for $250 a month.

Appointment Recommended

He met Monday with the airport commission to discuss possible promotion activities. His appointment Wednesday was recommended by the commission.

It will be Higgins' job to make a "direct" effort to secure enough boardings so the city will no longer be required to subsidize boardings in order to meet the airport's quota, as the city has been doing.

Higgins now is associated with a St. Louis research, merchandising and public relations firm. He has had more than 20 years experience with airlines. According to Mayor Frank Sinke-wicz, Higgins is acquainted with major airlines executives and Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB).

Okay Hangar Sale

Aldermen also approved the sale of city-owned T-hangar at the airport to Wally Webb, Clintonville, for $1,500.

A proposal of Carl Rosnow to sell property on Seventh Street was returned to the board of public works for further negotiation and study.

Because of this, no action was taken on a proposal to construct an alley from Fifth to Seventh streets.

Osteopathic Hospital

At Des Moines, Almond will be administrator of a 125-bed osteopathic hospital. It has a staff of 90 doctors and began operation in July of this year. His family will remain in Waupaca for an indefinite period, Almond said.

Applicants for the vacancy at Waupaca Hospital are being screened at the present time.

Almond said if a new administrator is not hired by the time he assumes his new position, he will continue to aid in administrative work on an advisory capacity.

Resort Owner Opposes Park Work Proposal

Waupaca County Board Advised to Leave Camping Facilities to Private Operators

WAUPACA — County board members were advised to stay out of the camping business and leave the construction of campsites up to private owners, at Tuesday's county board session.

This advice was issued by Robert Conroy, owner of Conroy's Bear Lake Resort, following a petition asking that the county improve the county park at Gills Landing on the Wolf River.

The petition, which carried more than 300 signatures, asked that restroom facilities be constructed, electrical outlets installed and the area made more attractive to campers.

Conroy, who operates one of the oldest camping grounds in the county, said to provide an adequate camping grounds a large investment is needed plus constant maintenance.

Private Facilities

There are already several private camping grounds available in the county and more are expected to be constructed soon, Conroy said. With enough private camping grounds available

Amherst Vocal Teacher Accepts Ripon Position

AMHERST — Diane Larson, vocal teacher in the Tomorrow River Schools for the past two years, has accepted a position in the Ripon Junior high school, Ripon, where she will be instructor in grades six, seven and eight.

Miss Larson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Larson, is a 1957 graduate of Amherst high school and graduated from Augsburg college, Minneapolis in 1961. Miss Mary Ann Irish from Laona will fill the vacancy left by Miss Larson in the vocal department.

Roaming Evangelist To Sing at Wittenberg

WITTENBERG — Orben Sime, the roaming, singing evangelist, will appear at Redeemer Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Sime, sent out by the church headquarters of the American Lutheran Church at Minneapolis, uses five novel instruments: banjo, electric guitar, zither, musical pitch fork, and a Norwegian one stringed instrument.

He will present a program Friday evening at the Home Home for the Aging.

Wolves, Moose Live Together In Strange Natural Balance

Group Reunited but Has No Time To Study Delicate Relationship

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ISLE ROYALE — Our untidy foursome has now joined ranks with our five missing comrades but they are tidy, bathed, combed, rested, well fed and somewhat decently dressed. Our inclination is to throw rocks at them.

Two days ago when they wandered into the interior of this 45-mile wide island, we, the foul foursome were elected to pick them up at a rendezvous though we would INSERT ITALIC travel there by boat. But we could not negotiate the storm-tossed Lake Superior and though we made manful efforts to res-new rested and snug and showered and combed and tidy—are John Kuony, director of the Oshkosh Museum; Robert Hruska, its curator of anthropology; Harry Brown of Big Bend; Dr. Robert Ritzenthaler of Milwaukee, and Winston Elting of Chicago.

Revenge

For revenge, I shall make bad coffee, thin pancakes, burned bacon!

The expedition now has reluctantly agreed to abandon its proposed study of the wolf-moose association on this island. We have neither the time nor the equipment to supplement the long, admirable study of the same relationship by Purdue University.

Nevertheless, the relationship between the wolves and the moose which inhabit this island is a magnificent example of the delicate balance of nature. Here, briefly, is what takes place on this largest of Lake Superior islands:

Sissies

In 1936 when moose appeared on the island, the Michigan Conservation Department imported three wolves taken from zoos. Their purpose was to cull out the misfit moose, the ailing, the aged. But the zoo wolves turned out to be sissies. They remained around camp; they couldn't or wouldn't hunt moose; they couldn't support themselves. At last they were removed.

Nature stepped in, and suddenly in that same year there appeared a wolf pack on the island. They were tough wolves and eager and they hunted down the moose with skill and determination.

They took the moose they could kill — the weak and the old. And the wolves prospered and the moose herd grew to be strong.

For the past three years, the wolves have numbered approximately 25 in the pack. For the same period, the moose herd numbered 600.

This large number of moose on such a small island is one of the interesting aspects of this island national park. All of us have sighted moose. I saw five in one day — cows, bulls and calves. Long-legged woodsman, Winston Elting, who prowls the forest with rare skill, has sighted eight of the big animals which sometimes reach a height of ten feet at the withers.

Swimming, Sleeping

We see them swimming the inland lakes, and we see them rooting them from their beds as we move along.

None of us has seen a wolf. Turn to Page 3, Col. 4

3 Youths Deny Waupaca Beer Possession Count

WAUPACA — Three of five youths charged with possession of beer off a licensed premise pleaded innocent when they appeared Wednesday in Municipal Justice Court.

Frederick Thomas, 19, Thomas Thomas, 18, and James R. Strom, 18, all of Menominee Falls, pleaded innocent to the charge and were bound over to county court for trial. Each posted a $65 bond. The three were arrested Aug. 7 near Weyauwega.

The two other youths—John D. Frizzell, 18, route 3, Nelsonville, and David L. Madison, 18, Scandinavia—pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined $50 each and had their drivers' licenses suspended for 30 days. Frizzell and Madison were arrested Aug. 12 near Scandinavia.

All the youths were arrested by Waupaca County police.

Woman Faces Four Counts Of Forgery

Mary Jane Leppen, Formerly of Iola, Released on Bond

WAUPACA—Mary Jane Leppen, 43, a former Iola resident, charged with four counts of forgery, was bound over to Waupaca County Court Wednesday when she was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court.

Mrs. Leppen was returned to Waupaca from Jackson, Mich., where she was being held by Michigan authorities. After her out-of-state arrest, she refused extradition to Wisconsin. It required action from governors of both states before she could be returned.

Mrs. Leppen is charged with forging checks in the Iola area. She also is being sought by at least two other counties for forgery. Mrs. Leppen allegedly cashed $2,000 in forged checks before going to Michigan.

Arrested April 17

The offenses were committed April 3 and extradition proceedings were started June 9. Mrs. Leppen was arrested in Michigan on April 17 and had been held at the Jackson, Mich., prison.

Justice George Whalen set bond at $2,000. Mrs. Leppen posted the bond and was released.

Waupaca, 3 Townships Get $20,890 Federal Urban Renewal Grant

WAUPACA—The City of Waupaca, along with towns of Dayton and Farmington, are included in a list of Wisconsin communities that will share a $47,370 federal grant under the urban renewal administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA).

The announcement was made Wednesday in Washington.

The funds shared by the three Waupaca County municipalities, amounting to $20,890 will cover about two-thirds of the total cost of planning work which is now underway.

The first phase of the planning program being carried out by the City of Waupaca has already been completed by Green Engineering Co., and will be ready for final approval at a plan commission meeting following the regular Aug. 18 council meeting.

With the announcement of the grant, work on the second phase is expected to start in the near future.

The towns of Dayton and Farmington are also in the process of having comprehensive plans prepared by the Green Engineering Co.

Several categories in which the school is saving money are transportation and cash on hand, he said. The school is making a substantial saving in transportation, Hendrickson said, by owning its own bus fleet. If the buses operated by the district were leased, costs would be much higher.

The district is also maintaining enough money on hand to operate the district until tax monies from the various townships and city are received. Cash on hand listed in the budget is $199,006.

If this amount were not kept on hand, it would be necessary to borrow money until state aids or tax monies are received. This way the district does not have to pay any interest on short term loans, Hendrickson said.

The money to be raised for this year's budget through local property taxes will be $436,755 which will mean a tax levy of $12.53 per $1,000 equalized valuation.

This is an increase of 43 cents over last year using the equalized valuation. On an assessed levy, the increase will be approximately $1.30 per assessed $1,000 in the City of Waupaca, which is assessed at about 50 per cent of equalized valuation.

Contracts for coal, fuel oil and gasoline also were awarded at the meeting. The coal contract went to Evan Durrant for $12.23 per ton. Fuel oil for the coming year will be furnished by the Mobil Oil Co., which submitted the low bid of 11.8 cents per gallon. The gasoline contract also went to the Mobil Oil Co. The price will be 11.87 cents per gallon.

Other Business

Raymond Martin was appointed as the Waupaca delegate to the Board of control of cooperative educational service agency. The new agency has been formed to replace the office of county superintendent of schools.

Next year's summer school dates were also set. So as not to conflict with church schools, summer school will start next year June 21 and continue to July 30. This is one week earlier than this year.

Calumet Board Transfers $11,000 To Two Accounts

CHILTON — The Calumet County Board Tuesday voted to transfer a total of $11,000 from the contingent fund to two separate accounts.

A total of $10,000 was transferred to the courthouse account for the paving of the parking lot and repair of the dome.

A sum of $1,000 was put in the law library account to take care of law books and periodicals purchased for the library.

The state provides a circuit judge with $1,500 for the account from the county budget. Until now only $1,000 each year had been appropriated. County Clerk Roland E. Miller suggested the board increase the appropriation to $1,500 each year.

Special Meeting Called

Potter Closes School and Joins Hilbert Grade System

HILBERT—Parents of Potter school children Tuesday night attending the meeting.

Better Education

Heading the list was the advantage of three teachers in- stead of one for the six grades. At the Potter school one teacher equipment. The board also had taught all six grades and it maintained that more time was the board's feeling the students could be given the individual needs of the students.

Riding the bus, according to the list of advantages, would be much safer for the students than walking along the road.

The school lunch program would also be more convenient for the students.

The board said it was not attempting to force the closing of the school. The meeting was When one or two students are called to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of the school closing. Had the people voted to keep the school open, the board promised to keep it open.

Special classes such as music, physical education and art Hilbert district in 1961. At the can be studied to a greater time they had a choice of either extent at the Hilbert school in Hilbert, Chilton or Brillion.

Real Estate Value Up at Brillion

BRILLION—The 1964 assessment roll for the city of Brillion show $7,455,375 in real estate and $1,977,450 in personal property.

Real estate assessment in 1963 was $7,267,725 and personal property was $2,000,725.

This is an increase of $224,375.

Wittenberg Man Writes Words, Music For Hit Play, 'Hodag'

WITTENBERG — "Hodag" a new musical play by David Peterson, a 1953 graduate of Wittenberg High School, will be presented in the high school gym at 8:30 p.m.

Peterson, now assistant choral director at the University of Wisconsin, wrote the book, music and lyrics of the play about Gene Shepard, Wisconsin's greatest trickster Shepard lived in the Rhinelander area during Wisconsin's frontier days.

The play, produced by the Idea Theater of the Wisconsin Cooperative Extension Service, will be performed at 30 county fairs and community centers around the state.

"Down River," the play presented by the Idea Theater for the last two summers, also was written by Peterson.

Industrial Bond Issue Nearly Sold

WAUPACA — All but $6,000 of the $27,500 bond issue for the Woody's Cheese Co. construction program have been sold, according to Ray Roe, secretary of Waupaca Industrial Development Corp.

The remaining bonds are expected to be sold within a week, he added.

As of June 10 when $60,000 in debenture bonds went on sale for a Waupaca foundry expansion project, the industrial debt was $81,000 worth of bonds. The Woody's Cheese Co. bonds went on sale July 10.

Although a few bonds have been sold to investors outside the area, most of them have been purchased by Waupaca residents, Roe said.

Both construction projects are underway at the present time.

Speakers Tell Early History At Old Settlers' Get Together

ROYALTON — The 70th annual Old Settlers' picnic was held Sunday in the village park at Ogdensburg. The Rev. Gerben Veldt, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ogdensburg, and New London, was guest speaker.

Emil Gehrke, New London, discussed the early history of the organization.

The Old Settlers' Society was organized in March, 1872, at the Tarbell House in Weyauwega. Later its membership was absorbed by the Little Red Schoolhouse Pioneer association, organized in the fall of 1895.

Other officers include Albert Mavis, Manawa, vice president; Mrs. Oliver Boutwell, Ogdensburg, secretary, and Mrs. Chris Rasmussen, Ogdensburg, treasurer.

The Busy Badgers 4-H Club was in charge of the refreshment stand.

ROYALTON — The 70th annual Old Settlers' picnic was held Sunday in the village park at Ogdensburg. The Rev. Gerben Veldt, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ogdensburg, and New London, was guest speaker.

Emil Gehrke, New London, discussed the early history of the organization.

The Old Settlers' Society was organized in March, 1872, at the Tarbell House in Weyauwega. Later its membership was absorbed by the Little Red Schoolhouse Pioneer association, organized in the fall of 1895.

The talks were interspersed with vocal selections and instrumental music by local talent.

Other officers include Albert Mavis, Manawa, vice president; Mrs. Oliver Boutwell, Ogdensburg, secretary, and Mrs. Chris Rasmussen, Ogdensburg, treasurer.

The Busy Badgers 4-H Club was in charge of the refreshment stand.

Municipal-Owned Vehicles Would Cost About $5,600

WAUPACA—Starting Jan. 1, the Waupaca County sheriff and undersheriff will drive county-owned squad cars. The motion to supply the two extra cars was approved Tuesday by the county board.

Now the sheriff and undersheriff drive their personal cars and are paid seven cents per mile. According to cost figures compiled recently by Robert Backer, county clerk, the five county-owned squad cars are operated for 4.79 cents per mile. These figures include all expenses plus depreciation.

Under the present arrangement the sheriff is allowed 30,000 miles per year at the seven cent rate and the undersheriff 24,000 miles. However, each year both members of the sheriff's department exceed this amount of miles while performing their duties. Cost of the two new cars has been estimated at $5,600.

Resolution Studied

A resolution to allow County Traffic Patrol Captain Royal Myhill to continue work for another two years on a part-time basis was tabled and sent to the law enforcement committee for further study.

The resolution asked that Capt. Myhill be allowed to continue work after Jan. 1 on a three-day week basis and he would be paid $90 per month plus his hospitalization insurance. Under this arrangement he would remain as captain of the department and would be available when help is needed.

Capt. Myhill will be 65 Aug. 14 and had planned to retire as of Jan. 1. However he has indicated he would like to continue his duties on the part-time basis. He would also retain the use of his squad car for his police duties.

Under a resolution passed in 1963 by the county board stating that a county employee will be allowed to work parttime past his 65th birthday and to earn up to $1,200, Capt. Myhill could continue to hold his position.

The law enforcement committee is expected to return with a final recommendation at the Nov. 6 meeting of the board.

Pheasant Project

BRILLION — Eight members of the Brillion Conservation Club were elected to three-year terms on the board of directors at a meeting Monday.

They include Ken Saenger, Adolph Raschke, Robert Busse, Francis Doughty, Tony Neuman, Ed Labitzke, Jim Broehm, and George Beattie.

Tony Neuman speaking for the Long Lake Improvement Association recommended a ground fill-in work be done at Boot Lake and Round Lake near the public landing. The fill is available free of charge. Neuman was authorized to secure a bulldozer and trucks to begin work. The project is expected to be completed at a cost to the club of $150.

The annual Conservation Club picnic this year netted a profit of $1,562.53.

The club members okayed the re-leasing for three years of Conservation Club property to Earl Voss.

George Beattie reported the club is raising and housing 400 pheasant roosters at the club grounds 1 1/2 miles south of Brillion on State 114.

The Annual Sportsmen leadership conference will be held Sept. 9-12 this year at the Trees for Tomorrow Camp, Eagle River, Wis. Oscar Beilke Jr. represented the Brillion unit last year.

The 1965 membership drive will commence next month. Membership buttons can be purchased from any club member.

Officers will be elected by the board of directors at the Sept. 8 club meeting.

Brillion Senior Band Changes Practice Days

BRILLION — Senior band marching practice has been changed at Brillion. Sessions will be from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesdays. Previously practices were for one hour on Mondays.

Junior band members will practice on Monday from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Senior band members have been requested to return their uniforms to the high school so they can be properly cleaned.

from moderately hot coals for six minutes. Turn and cook for four to six minutes longer.

LOUISIANA SHRIMP BOIL
3 pounds shrimp, fresh or frozen
1 lemon, sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1/2 cup prepared seafood seasoning
1 clove garlic, sliced
1 gallon water
1/2 cup salt
Peppy Seafood sauce
Thaw frozen shrimp. Tie the lemon, onion, seafood seasoning and garlic in a piece of cheesecloth. Pour water into a large container. Add salt and bag of seasonings. Cover and bring to the boiling point over a hot fire. Add shrimp and return to the boiling point. Cover and cook for five minutes or until shrimp is tender. Drain. Serve with Peppy Seafood Sauce. Recipe serves six.

PEPPY SEAFOOD SAUCE
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 cup chili sauce
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 drops tabasco
Dash pepper
Combine all ingredients; chill. Makes approximately one and one-half cups sauce.

CHESAPEAKE BAY CLAM
6 dozen soft-shell clams
12 small onions
6 medium baking potatoes
6 ears of corn, in husks
12 live blue crabs
Lemon wedges
Melted butter
Wash clam shells thoroughly. Peel onions and wash potatoes.

John Felton Is the Proud Owner of a "blommin'" rubber plant which his had three blossoms. The plant is seven years old and grew to the ceiling. Mr. Felton cut it down to a height of 24 inches and replanted it in a plastic container. Six-inch-high white blossoms, with yellow centers, open in the morning to a width of four inches and close in the afternoon. Above, the one blossom is opened in full bloom and on either side can be seen blossoms that already have closed. The plant is in the window of the Valley Glass Co. A local florist points out that a blooming rubber plant is almost unheard of. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Parboil onions and potatoes for 15 minutes; drain. Remove corn silk from corn and replace husks. Cut 12 pieces of cheesecloth and 12 pieces of heavy duty aluminum foil, 18 x 36 inches each. Place two pieces of cheesecloth on top of two pieces of foil. Place two onions, a potato, ear of corn, 12 clams, and two crabs on cheesecloth. Tie the cheesecloth up over the food. Pour one cup of water over the package. Bring edges of foil together and seal tightly. Make six packages. Place packages about four inches from hot coals. Cover with hood or aluminum foil. Cook for 45 to 60 minutes or until onions and potatoes are cooked. Serve with lemon wedges and butter.

GRILLED SPINY LOBSTER
6 spiny lobster tails (8 ounces each), fresh or frozen.
1/4 cup butter or other fat, melted.
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
Melted butter or other fat
Thaw frozen lobster tails. Cut in half lengthwise. Remove swimmerettes and sharp edges. Cut six squares of heavy-duty foil, 12 inches each. Place each lobster tail on one half of each square of foil. Combine butter, lemon juice, and salt. Baste lobster meat with sauce. Fold other half of foil over lobster tail and seal edges by making double folds in the foil. Place packages of lobster tails on a barbecue grill, shell side down, about five inches from hot coals. Cook for 20 minutes. Remove lobster tails from grill, flesh side down, and cook for two to three minutes longer or until lightly browned. Serve with melted butter.

Wash 'n Wear Complexion

Even a real kooky teen wouldn't be careless about the cleaning of her best formal. Would she now?

How is it then that so many damsels forget all about the "quality - needs - quality - care" philosophy when it comes to the complexion? Skin is the finest of fabrics with the most in the way of wash-wear qualities. Soap and water keeps a good skin good, and helps to improve a faulty one.

The washing technique that gives the cleanest, clearest results starts with "spot cleaning." Simply apply thick soap-suds, with fingertips or complexion brush, to the forehead, nose and chin. Then massage those areas well and follow up with a thorough warm-water rinse.

Now lather the entire face, let the lather set for a few moments, and rinse until the skin loses its sudsy slip. Finish with splashes of cold water and pat dry.

Occasionally, before washing, hold your face over steaming water. Steam encourages the pores to release impurities. It also brings up a wonderful fresh glow.

To appear presentable, skin has first and foremost to be fresh. Oh, it may also benefit from medi-care. But the ef-tion methods, treatments for blackheads, enlarged pores, circles, wrinkles, crepiness, etc. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of Appleton Post-Crescent enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

Miller Electric Gets $30,000 Viet Nam Job

Welding Equipment Purchase Financed
By Foreign Aid

A foreign aid - financed order for $30,517 worth of welding equipment sold in South Viet Nam has been placed with Miller Electric Manufacturing Co., Appleton, according to the Agency for International Development (AID).

The order was arranged by Miller's agent in South Viet Nam. The agent had submitted a bid for the equipment as required by AID regulations.

Equipment ordered includes gasoline - driven and transformer type welders. The equipment is being built in Appleton and will be shipped to the south-east Asian country on American ships.

Development Program

The purchase by a South Vietnamese company is financed under the commodity import phase of the U.S. economic development program in that country which helps provide materials needed for local industrial and commercial growth.

AID-financed production by American firms currently is at the rate of $1 billion annually. This means, according to the federal agency, more than 85 per cent of all AID commodity funds remain in the United States.

Miller has received other orders from South Viet Nam, and a company spokesman today said more are expected.

Car Expense Boost Asked

Appleton Inspector
Adds His Request To Growing List

Appleton's acting electrical inspector is the latest to join the lineup of department heads requesting a boost in car allowance.

However, Joseph Schoenhaar took a different approach in his letter to the public safety committee which met at the city hall Tuesday night.

As the basis for his request for more money, Schoenhaar cited a Sunday Post-Crescent article of May 31, which read in part: "Average car in the popular price range, operated at 10,000 miles a year, costs $1,162 annually."

'Fixed Charges'

"Fixed charges — insurance, depreciation and license fees that amount to $2.17 a day, whether the car is used or not. "Variable costs — gas, oil, tires and maintenance. The AAA places this cost at 3.7 cents per mile."

Schoenhaar said he examined figures quoted in the story and concluded: "I feel the only fair compensation for the use of my car (on city business) would be $2.17 per day, plus 3.7 cents per mile."

He now receives a flat 10 cents a mile allowance.

The committee referred Schoenhaar's request to the personnel and finance committees.

Peninsula's Youth Concert Refreshing

World Premiere of Milwaukee-Born Composer's Work

Post-Crescent News Service
FISH CREEK—A world premiere, 26th in the 12-year history of the Peninsula Music Festival but the first ever presented at the annual Young People's Concert, constituted a musical milestone Tuesday afternoon.

A half-filled house — about standard for the event—enjoyed but was not greatly stirred by "Serenade (to a Ballerina)" by the Milwaukee-born film composer Heinz Roemheld. "Serenade" is a pleasantly melodic piece containing several humorous touches, easy-going rather than exciting. Consisting of four short movements, the work saunters along casually, building to no rousing climaxes and demanding only relaxed attention.

Lyrical Third Movement
Roemheld has resisted temptations to experiment either tonally or in orchestration and the piece doesn't stray far from familiar pastures. Most notable features are a lyrical third movement and a complicated and inventive rhythmic variety that makes it far more difficult to play than it sounds. The orchestra performed the work smartly, to the satisfaction of everyone including Mr. Roemheld, who was present to savor its reception. "Serenade," which should, and probably will, enjoy mild success, is scheduled for another performance this fall by the Milwaukee Symphony with the composer on the podium.

Dual Role
The new work fitted effortlessly into the afternoon's pattern of light and amiable music, smoothly introduced by Dr. Johnson in his usual dual role of conductor and master of ceremonies. It is a role he obviously enjoys.

To open proceedings Dr. Johnson liberated a swarm of "friendly" insects, musical wasps, bumble bees and mosquitos "trapped in tone," to quote the program, which buzzed the audience with infectious enthusiasm. The Vaughan-Williams overture to "The Wasps," Anatol Liadov's delicate mosquito dance and the perennially popular "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakov were pure delight.

Woodwind Demonstration
Following the Roemheld premiere the Soni Ventorum woodwind quintet offered a polished although not very dashing demonstration of woodwind instruments. It consisted of a playful little Mozart number written for an 18th century version of the juke box.

A narration by clarinetist Raymond Gariglio (chosen because he's the champion father in the orchestra) of Grimm's fairy tale "The Musicians of Bremen," with musical punctuation by Bernard Rogers was the customary children's novelty. Gariglio had a lot of fun with it and so did the orchestra. The program concluded with a colorful, foot-tapping performance of Mussorgsky's familiar and popular "Hopak." Short but invigorating, the boisterous little dance ended the afternoon in the same refreshing spirit with which it began.

Ice Cream Social Features Old Time Skills, Displays

FOND DU LAC — Make your own candles out of beeswax. Ride in a covered wagon. Watch a real example of the Schmitzbank" (a wood worker's bench in use.

These and many other features and demonstrations will highlight the annual ice cream social on the lawn of the Galloway House Museum from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Visitors will be able to see corn churning demonstrations and the weaving and hooking of rug. Butter will be churned, rolled, pressed or curled into fancy shapes the way it was done for parties when grand mother was a girl.

The activities will be accompanied by the music of the Fond du Lac Military Band.

The pantry table will again be filled with some baked goods, jams, jellies and pickles made by members of the county historical society.

The refreshment tent will feature ice cream, cake, pie, coffee or lemonade.

All four houses on the grounds will be open for inspection: the large Victorian farm house and its carriage house, the log house transplanted from Lamartine and the newly acquired Willow Lawn schoolhouse.

This social, started in 1957 assists restoration efforts at Galloway House Museum.

At Freedom School

Lawrence Student Writes of Peril In Helping Negroes in Mississippi

Judith Michalowski of New Britain, Conn., a senior at Lawrence University, is a staff member at a community center and a Freedom School in Mississippi this summer, according to word received here.

Miss Michalowski attended an orientation session in Oxford, Ohio, early in the summer and since then has been in Ruleville, Miss. There she participated in Freedom Day in Mississippi's second Congressional District, in which Negroes went to court houses in an attempt to register to vote, accompanied by pickets. About 20 Negroes succeeded in registering where she was picketing.

She also has been working on the enrollment of adults in literacy classes at the Freedom School.

"It didn't take long to realize that the most important thing was not the classes but just talking to these people," she wrote.

Most Moving Experience
"I can honestly say that this was the most emotionally moving experience I've had since I've been here. Just to talk with these people and find out what the most important things in their lives are, what they're proudest of, what their everyday lives consist of, what their disappointments are, what their outlook on life is. I hope that during the course of the summer all the kids in our group will go out and do the same type of visiting that we did," she wrote.

Miss Michalowski spoke of harassments to which the participants in the Mississippi Summer Project are subjected. One letter was written by the light of the television: "We can't have lights on if the doors and windows are open for air because that would expose us too much. It seems funny to have the Ed Sullivan show on here in this atmosphere with those police cars driving by."

Her group originally was assigned to establish a Freedom School in Shaw, Miss., but she reported they have been unable to get into that community "because people have been intimidated to the point that they are afraid to take us into their homes."

Bravery Immeasurable
"The bravery and kindness of the people who have taken us in is immeasurable. One man was fired from his job yesterday because he had two boys staying with him. The lady we stayed with at the beginning of the week runs the risk of being taken off public welfare because she housed us."

The Lawrence co-ed wrote about frequent periods of inactivity. "I often times feel that I am not doing anything constructive down here and that I should be teaching or registering voters or the like, but we were told yesterday that we won't always be able to directly keep moving ahead, either the movement as a whole or our individual part making with these people just in it. There will be a lot of waiting and time to think about and to them is enough to warrant evaluate our situations. Our being here on these days, "I guess the contact that we're when we have no work to do."

'Long Appleton Tradition'

No Women Behind Bar May Stay City Policy

Appleton's welfare-ordinance committee Tuesday night decided to let the dust continue to accumulate on the city's long-standing policy of "no women behind the bars."

The regulated absence of women on the side from which drinks are dispensed has been "a long Appleton tradition," officials say.

Before the committee was a request from a local lassie to grant her an operator's license.

To make sure her request would not be overlooked in the preparation of the committee agenda, she called Chairman R. P. Groh (8th) by phone.

Request Denied
He told her of the city's policy, and said the request would be brought up. The committee denied it.

However, Ald. Richard Huisman (1st) was somewhat sympathetic.

"I think if you will check with our newly recodified ordinances they will show women are allowed to tend bar in clubs," Huisman told his colleagues.

"Once women start bartending in clubs, you won't be able to stop them from tending bar anywhere," he said.

Made Mistake
Huisman said, "I think we made a mistake on that ordinance."

"Maybe we did," replied Groh. "Now's the time to take care of it then."

At this point, Huisman reversed, and said it was time for the city to abolish the policy and grant the license.

None of the committee members could recall the reason for not granting females a license.

Wanted to Know
"The woman who called me wanted to know why, too," Groh said, "and I told her it was just because she was a woman."

The committee agreed to continue to deny such requests until the council advises a change in policy.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said today he really didn't know where the policy came from.

"I think it's just something carried over from the 1900's"

when women were not to go in bars," Wolff said.

The chief said he talked to Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th) and she leaned toward the policy, but thought it was discrimination.

Not Expressed
Mrs. Stillings was unable to attend Tuesday night's meeting so her views were not expressed.

"Without having any experience with women bartenders, I am in no position to be for or against," Wolff said.

He volunteered his personal opinion that women bartenders "might tend to incite things."

Mayor Clarence Mitchell had few words on the subject, except it's "Tradition, that's all."

New Lutheran Unit Set Up In Fox Cities

The Fox Cities Young Adult Lutheran Walther League officially organized Tuesday night with the adoption of a constitution and election of permanent officers.

Elected were Erwin Handschke, president, son of Alfred Handschke, route 1, Hortonville and Mike Freiberg, vice president and Christian growth chairman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Freiberg, 1905 N. Alexander St., Appleton.

Also chosen were Sally Casper, secretary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Casper, 2218 N. Viola St., Appleton and Charlotte Handschke, treasurer, a sister of the president.

The group elected Elizabeth Hensel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hensel, 1007 E. Glendale Ave., Appleton, delegate to the convention of the North Wisconsin Upper Michigan District of the International Walther League, which will be held later this month.

Other items of business included approval of a membership drive, co-sponsorship of an invitation for the district's winter camp, the scheduling of a planning meeting-picnic at Shawano County Park this Sunday and the publication of a quarterly newspaper.

Relief Is Found For Corn Sufferers

NEW YORK (AP) — Painful corns disappear with injections of a spongy plastic between the corn and the bone underneath, reports Dr. Irwin Acker of Greensboro, N.C.

He told the annual meeting of the American Podiatry Association Tuesday, "the plastic acts as a mattress or shock absorber that takes pressure off the afflicted area."

He said he successfully treated six corn sufferers with silicone-rubber materials used in plastic surgery. He said pain stops the first day and the corn disappears after a few days.

Mississippi Party Operations Banned

Freedom Democrats File Suit Against 16 State Statutes

BY JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A state judge has banned operations of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, formed by civil rights leaders to seek ouster of the all-white regular Democrats from the national convention.

At almost the same time that Chancery Judge Stokes Robertson Jr. issued his injunction Wednesday, a suit was filed in federal court asking that 16 state laws designed to hinder civil rights activities be struck down.

The two actions weren't directly connected. But both were seen as part of the continuing struggle on one hand by the state to maintain the status quo and on the other hand by Negroes to win civil rights including recognition from the national Democratic party.

Consider Action

Lawrence Guyot, chairman of the Freedom Democrats executive committee, said attorneys were considering action to counter the injunction.

State Atty. Gen. Jot T. Patterson, a Democrat, obtained the injunction.

Patterson, along with Gov. Paul B. Johnson and other state officials, was named a defendant in the federal court action.

Guyot declined to say if officers of the Freedom Democrats would obey the injunction ordering them to cease activity for the group.

A floor battle over the issue at the Democratic National Convention, which begins Aug. 24 at Atlantic City, N.J., is virtually assured. At least eight state Democratic delegations have sanctioned called for support of the predominantly Negro Freedom Democrats.

Suit Filed

Patterson's suit said it was filed for "the preservation of order and the protection of the public." It charged that last week's state convention of the Freedom Democrats was designed to "intimidate and embarrass the lawfully existing Democratic party and to create confusion in the minds of the electorate and bitterness, hatred and discord among the citizens."

The attorney general argued that the word "democratic" is already in use as part of another party name and under Mississippi law a second group cannot use it.

The federal court suit asked that a three-judge panel be convened to consider the constitutionality of the 16 state laws, which the plaintiffs said maintained "a form of government of lawlessness and tyranny."

Under federal judicial procedure, three-judge courts pass on constitutional questions and any appeals go directly to the U.S. Supreme Court, by-passing the federal circuit courts of appeal.

Negro Druggist

One of the plaintiffs was Aaron Henry, Clarksdale Negro druggist and state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Henry is also one of the leaders of the Freedom Democratic movement.

The complaint charged that Negroes had been denied usual citizenship privileges and immunities by state and local authorities, who had sanctioned she thought was a rough spot in the road. She drove forward again, got out of the car and noticed the man lying near her rear tires. Mrs. Suess said she did not see the man walk onto the road at the rear of her car.

Kemps will seek a ruling to determine if the man's death will be considered a roadway fatality. He said the area where the man was fatally injured was closed to traffic and may not be considered a traffic area. The ruling will be sought from the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Knudson died of his injuries at Brooks Memorial Hospital, Dunkert, N. Y. Waupaca County authorities were notified of the death shortly before 10 a.m.

A 16-year-old companion of Knudson is in critical condition at the same hospital. Kenneth E. Molaska, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Molaska, also of Iola, suffered a broken leg, arm and other injuries in the mishap, police were told.

No details on the crash were available.

U. S. Faced Again by Crisis in the Congo

Efforts Expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four years of effort and the expenditure of $418 million in trying to save the Congo, U.S. strategists are once again faced with confusion and crisis in this vast heartland of Africa.

Four U.S. Air Force transports arriving in Leopoldville today signal the start of an expanded American effort to bolster the central Congo government. More U.S. arms and aid will be flowing in.

Washington's general goal is clear: To stave off anarchy and a possible Red takeover of the country.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Wisconsin highway toll for 1964 reached 639 with the spectacular plunge of a Milwaukee man's car over a bluff to a bathing beach. The total on this day a year ago was 511.

Ahmed F. Gogen, 25, of Milwaukee was injured fatally Wednesday when his car smashed through a guard rail and plunged over a 400 foot bluff to the Lake Michigan shore at suburban Shorewood's Atwater Beach, empty except for employees because of cool weather.

Far less clear — in fact, downright confusing in U.S. eyes — is the situation in the Congo and just what can be done to remedy it.

Confused Situation

The Congo's confused situation first implanted itself firmly on the Washington mind in 1960 when Belgium granted independence to the colony. Those dealing with it soon found it was no nation in the modern sense.

With more than 200 tribes and that many languages, without central leadership or the facilities of a nation, the territory started falling apart fast. The Soviets were becoming active.

The U.S. response then was to be in the United Nations to help build an administratively, financially sound nation.

Over the next four years the United Nations supplied 20,000 peace-keeping troops and nearly $600 million in aid, enough to beset its own finances. Through the United Nations and on its own, the United States poured in $418 million in economic and arms aid.

Then the United Nations pulled out its troops last June 30 and the crisis began building up again. Rebels in the eastern Congo have now seized the important city of Stanleyville and big chunks of territory elsewhere. The central government forces show little fight.

This time the Red Chinese may be standing in the wings. Peking has not supplied much equipment to the different rebel groups who feed on intertribal disputes, but it has sent in propaganda and trained some revolutionaries.

Washington's 1964 response has been to team with the Belgians in trying to beef up the central government.

The four planes are supposed to help ferry men and equipment for the Leopoldville government until it can do enough on its own. That's if things go well.

If things don't go well, there are 40 U.S. paratroopers along to guard the planes and perhaps help rescue the approximately 1,500 Americans in the Congo.

U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant avoided any forecast in his report on the U.N. force withdrawal. "I make no prediction about the future course of events in the Congo," he said. "I wish for the best. . . ."

Exhibition Barns Are Filled With Show Livestock

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The annual Wisconsin State Fair begins a 10-day run Friday morning, and already the livestock and exhibition barns are filling amid a final round of getting ready.

A major topic was the brisk advance sale for the grandstand attractions. The pre-fair ticket sale usually is a good indicator of attendance. While there were no forecasts, there was optimism.

Grandstand Shows

The grandstand shows will feature, Friday through Tuesday, television's Beverly Hillsbillies. The cast of another TV attraction, Bonzanza, and a rodeo take over Wednesday through Sunday.

Eisenhower Gives Full Backing to Goldwater declaration. Goldwater told the Republican leaders: "I seek the support of no extremist — of the left or the right."

"Eisenhower, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other party leaders joined in praising that statement.

"He has repudiated character assassins, vigilantes, Communists and any group such as the Ku Klux Klan that would attempt to control localities through terror, threat or other lawless means," the former president said.

Critical of Welch

Rockefeller said that repudiation, along with other Goldwater pledges, should help the ticket. But the New York governor said he would have added the John Birch Society to the disavowal list.

Goldwater told a news conference he has vigorously opposed "damaging, ridiculous and very stupid statements" by Robert Welch, the society's founder. But he said the society itself is on no subversive list.

Rockefeller said the Goldwater declaration should be "reassuring to Republicans from one end of the country to the other."

"I said I would support the national ticket," said Rockefeller. Barry Goldwater is the presidential candidate and Bill Miller is the vice presidential candidate."

Party Principles First

But the New York governor indicated all his reservations have not been erased. He reminded newsmen that he spent five months as a candidate for the nomination, campaigning against Goldwater and discussing the senator's views.

"I refer you to the record," he said.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, who has been cool toward the ticket, said he was accepting the party's decisions on platform and nominees.

Romney's Statement

Romney flew home to Lansing from the Hershey meeting Wednesday night and issued a brief statement that offered no personal endorsement of the Arizona conservative's presidential candidacy.

"Our Republican party has of Congress. An interim appointment by President Lyndon B. Johnson, about an hour before the present session of Congress began on Jan. 7, 1964, put Rabinovitz in the office early in the year. But if the appointment is not confirmed by the Senate before the end of the current session, it will expire and Rabinovitz will no longer be judge.

Earlier in the week, a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee voted 5 to 1 against confirmation, with Eastland among the majority.

Nelson, Proxmire Back Judge

However, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has asked Eastland to have the full committee consider the nomination. Nelson said he had received many letters praising Rabinovitz' work as judge during the seven months he has served from lawyers who had originally opposed his appointment. Nelson said he had no idea what the outcome would be.

Rabinovitz also is backed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

"It is going to be very difficult to get the nomination approved," Proxmire said. "However, I have not given up."

Praises Record

Proxmire commented that Rabinovitz has served as a judge for more than seven months with a record "most impressive."

Proxmire said he could not recall a case when a judgeship nominee, with the backing of both senators from his state, was turned down for confirmation.

One of the matters brought to the attention of the subcommittee was the outcome of a poll taken last year by the state bar of Wisconsin. The poll, 2,040 of the association's members opposed the nomination of Rabinovitz, 793 said he was qualified and 697 expressed no opinion.

The post became vacant with the death of Judge Patrick T. Stone a year and a half ago.

made its decision for the current campaign," he said. "It has adopted a platform. It has nominated its candidates. I accept these decisions."

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton was host for the Hershey meeting, but he wasn't a very talkative one when it was over. "Both the approach made and the feeling engendered was very good," he said.

One governor who had withheld his support — John H. Reed of Maine — was quoted as saying he's now behind the ticket. William Avery, running for governor of Kansas, said Reed told the summit session his reservations have been dispelled and he is now 100 per cent behind the ticket.

Goldwater told a news conference his unity drive is three weeks ahead of schedule. He said the party is as solid now as he had hoped it would be by Sept. 1.

"We now have, I believe, only two senators and a few congressmen on the reluctant list," he said.

Among them: Sens. Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Javits of New York. They were not at the Hershey session, and neither indicated his stand has changed.

Keating did say Goldwater's repudiation of extremist support will be "helpful to him and the country."

"They're free and 21 and they can do what they want to," Goldwater said of the New York senators.

Goldwater said his declaration before the summit conference was a reaffirmation of things he has said before. The senator said nobody asked him to make any concessions, and he didn't.

"This is no conciliatory speech at all," he insisted.

But Rockefeller welcomed "the tone and the position" the senator took, and added, "I think that what was stated today was very close to traditional Republican principles that reflect the moderate point of view and are in the mainstream of American thought."

"I think it's his position as of today on these issues," Rockefeller said.

A reporter asked whether the governor was implying Goldwater might change his stance.

"I hope and trust that he will continue to emphasize these points as he has today," Rockefeller said.

Many Windows Smashed

Twenty-three Negroes, including six juveniles, were arrested in Paterson. One woman, arrested as she allegedly prepared to throw a garbage can through a window, was charged with inciting a riot.

Paterson Police Chief John O'Brien estimated that between 200 and 300 store windows were broken in the Fourth Ward. A flaming gasoline bomb struck a bus, but caused little damage.

Two newspapermen — photographer Mel Finkelstein and reporter Mike Pearl of the New York Journal-American — suffered cuts and bruises when a brick flew through their car window in Paterson.

Some 150 policemen scoured halls and alleys in the Negro district for hit-and-run bands of youths who hurled empty wine bottles.

Paterson Mayor Frank X. Graves, at the scene, said he would decide today whether to impose a curfew for the coming weekend. Bottles narrowly missed him on several occasions.

In the northwest corner of the island, Turk Cypriots manned the tiny pocket of Kokkina, into which they were driven by Greek Cypriots before the weekend cease fire.

Despite the aerial threat, the Nicosia government is maintaining a ring of steel around Kokkina and UN observers fear renewed clashes.

Greek Cypriots vented their rage and frustration Wednesday by turning angrily on the United States and Britain, whom they accuse of siding with Turkey in the dispute.

when he cried that the time for talk was past. Only outright self-determination, under United Nations shelter, would satisfy the island's 400,000 Greek Cypriots, he said.

Blasting the Turkish air attacks, Clerides said "nobody can believe the responsibility rests solely with Turkey."

"Nobody can believe that Turkey would dare launch such attacks, with NATO planes, without the consent of these two countries—the United States and Great Britain."

Tension Eased at Port

Shortly before Clerides spoke, about 100 demonstrators had marched past the British Information Office to the U.S. Embassy, where the gates were closed and the shutters drawn.

Tension eased today in the Turkish port of Iskenderun with the return of most of the Turkish warships that had sailed to ward Cyprus.

Five army regiments that had been maintaining a state of full alarm for the last few days were ordered to be on the alert only. Orders canceling all leaves for military personnel and civil servants in this embarkation port were modified.

The armed forces had massed here for a possible invasion of Cyprus — only 100 miles southwest of Iskenderun — following Turkish air raids last weekend.

Naval units arriving this morning included six destroyers, three submarines, twelve minesweepers, two landing craft and one repair ship.

Iskenderun was opened to normal commercial traffic.
